BARRY FACES SPIKE IN BURGLARIES

BARRY police are investigating four burglaries which all took place on the same day last week.

The addresses were in the West End area of the town. The police say there has been an increase in burglaries in November, and are appealing for anyone with information to come forward.

House-to-house enquiries are under way.

Houses on Oxford Street, Aberystwyth Crescent and two on Canon Street were broken into on Wednesday, November 22.

In each of the burglaries, which police believe are linked, thieves gained entry via the back door, ransacking many of the rooms and making off with cash and jewellery.

Burglars targeted the Oxford Street address between 8.40am and 1.10pm; one of the Canon Street addresses between 8am and 4pm and the other between 10.30am and 4.30pm; the Aberystwyth Crescent property was broken into between midday and 3.45pm.

Local Policing Inspector for Barry, Paul Tinkler, said: "We have seen an increase in the number of reported burglaries in Barry during November."

"At this stage we are connecting all of these burglaries and I'd appeal to anyone who thinks they saw anything suspicious in the area on Wednesday, or in the days leading up to and since the burglaries, to contact us."

"Our Neighbourhood Policing Team understands that incidents of this nature can cause worry in our communities and as such house-to-house enquiries and extra patrols – both high visibility and plain-clothed – are under way in order to identify who is responsible and try to prevent further offences.

"I'd also urge the public, who are quite simply our eyes and ears, to work with us to keep the area safe."

At the moment, the police are keeping an open mind as to whether those responsible are local or have come from further afield.

"Burglars sometimes live in, or near, the very communities in which they operate."

"Equally criminals travel to new areas to commit crime in the belief they won't be recognised, so we would ask that any suspicious behaviour or individuals are brought to our attention immediately."

The public are also encouraged to review their personal and home security.

Insp Tinkler added: "There are a number of different crime prevention measures that can be put in place to deter a burglar such as locking doors and windows, installing an alarm or CCTV, and not leaving valuables items such as jewellery, iPads and car keys on show."

"Ensure that tracking software on devices is enabled. Those who have expensive jewellery should consider making use of a safety box facility or installing a good quality safe that is secured to the wall or floor."

"I would also ask residents with CCTV to regular check for any suspicious activity near their home."

Anyone with information should contact 101, quoting the reference 1700459301.

THE generous decision of a Barry children's store to give away a £200 'reborn baby doll' called Annie after it was returned following an incident in the shop has gone viral.

The store's CCTV footage on Wednesday, November 22, appeared to show a woman putting the doll in a pram before leaving the store.

The shop's owner Faye Ruckley issued an appeal on Facebook for the return of the doll.

There was a huge reaction with 55,000 views of the incident and in due course the doll was returned.

Instead of insisting on further action, Faye decided instead to give Annie away free to someone who would treasure her.

Faye made a film which she posted on Facebook saying: "If you think you can give Annie the perfect home, to be considered all you have to do is 'Like' our Facebook page Ruckleys and comment on why she should come and live with you and share the post."

She was staggered when 75,000 people viewed the video.

Dozens of comments were left by people who desperately wanted to give Annie a home, some with heart-breaking reasons.

Faye said: "The reaction has been amazing."

The Mayor of the Vale, Cllr Janice Charles, told The GEM: "I think what Ruckleys has done is a wonderful thing full of the spirit of Christmas which is about giving and forgiveness."

"From something that was regrettable, something good has happened."

There's still time to win Annie if people go to: www.facebook.com/ruckleys.

The winner of Annie will be decided by Faye and the Vale Mayor later this week.

PLANE SPEAKING ON ACCESS ROAD

IN response to Mr Whitton's letter in last week's GEM, clearly the ambiguity of the written word has struck once more.

To clarify, and to try to keep this in as simple terms as possible to avoid further ambiguity, while Barry and Glamorgan desperately need road improvements to ease the daily strain on commuters, I have at no time condoned, nor supported, the plan for a Northern Access Road to St Athan.

To refer back to my letter last week: 'The site opened in the late 1930s, and never had a need for a specific road to it, because aircraft tend to fly into bases for maintenance.'

Again, by way of clarification, my point was that the Aerospace Business Park at St Athan should be supported, or I can see it becoming an industrial park and housing. That would be a major loss to the region.

If the Welsh Assembly want to do something useful for a change, then perhaps they could address the daily nightmare for thousands of Vale residents that is the commute to and from Culverhouse Cross.

I hope that clarifies in as simple terms as possible.

Ade Pitman, Barry.

MP put animals at risk with 'reckless vote'

LAST week in Parliament, Alan Cairns voted for a clause that declared in law, animals (other than humans) are incapable of feeling emotion or pain.

In doing so, he has put at risk all the legislation built up over the years to prevent cruelty to animals and animal exploitation.

The clause in question has been added into the EU Withdrawal Bill to make sure that once the UK leaves the EU, any laws that have an assumption that animals can have feelings or can feel pain will have to be repealed. This opens the door for the lifting of the ban on fox hunting, removes the need for compassionate treatment of livestock in transit or in the way they are slaughtered. It will even make it possible for people to bring into the UK big game hunting trophies which will put at risk creatures around the world such as giraffes and buffalo which are not protected by virtue of the fact that they are endangered, and are routinely hunted for sport.

This is the sort of thing we should be trying to stamp out, not encourage through changes in the law.

As a nation of animal lovers, this is an abhorrent development for the people of Britain and the people of the Vale need to know that their own MP has voted in favour of this barbaric clause. Just think about that next time you see him posing for a picture with a pony at an agricultural show or a dog in an animal sanctuary.

Graham Loveluck-Edwards, Rhoose.

WHY CRITICISE WITHOUT FULL KNOWLEDGE OF THE FACTS? ASKS READER

IT never ceases to amaze me how members of the public write to newspapers such as The GEM criticising local authorities without full knowledge of the facts, as in the case of the Barry Island Ferris wheel.

It appears to me the Vale Council planning department has dealt with the matter in as sympathetic and practical manner as could be reasonably expected. At face value it may seem to the lay person that the issue is a purely administrative one.

Planning, however, encompasses much more than visual amenity. Consider the statement issued by the authority, part of which I believe is very telling. Viz: 'In this spirit we would welcome the submission of a planning application for the Ferris wheel to ensure it is safely positioned.'

Was safety therefore a major concern of the authority?

Of course when a planning application is submitted the authority consults with statutory (must) and non-statutory (may) consultees. One can be assured that among such consultees will be those involved in public safety, such as fire, police and ambulance services as well as the Health and Safety Executive (HSE).

Without such consultations, can we, the public, be satisfied that the wheel was on stable and level ground solid enough to bear the weight imposed on it?

Was the wheel constructed and installed in accordance with guidance? Was the wheel capable of withstanding the strong winds which regularly blow into the south Wales coast?

Was there safe access and egress for emergency services, should there be need? Was there provision for public evacuation of the site in case of an incident involving the wheel?

Were proper risk assessments carried out?

I could of course continue with all the matters the bodies would consider and comment upon; but I hope the point is made.

The public surely have a right to know that when they pay for their children or grandchildren to go on the ride, the authorities have done all they can to ensure the safety of the loved ones.

Would those who bleat about over-zealous officialdom be happy for the council to ignore the planning requirements, and hope the ride was safe?

Would these same people absolve the authority from blame if an incident occurred which could have been prevented? No; they would be the first demanding an enquiry.

Whether there were any such issues or not, to dismiss this as an example of petty bureaucracy is crass, unworthy, and above all, grossly unintelligent; particularly when it comes from those who dabble in local politics – albeit at the lower end of the spectrum of power and influence.

There is only one guilty party in this. The fairground proprietor had a legal obligation to apply for planning permission.

Chris Goacher, St Athan.

Clarification on House of Commons vote

OVER the course of the last week, I have received hundreds of pieces of correspondence from constituents regarding the House of Commons vote on the New Clause 30 of the EU Withdrawal Bill.

Some public voices have suggested that this vote somehow signalled a weakening in the protection of animals. That is plain wrong. Voting against the amendment was not a vote against the idea that animals are sentient and feel pain. That is a ridiculous misconception.

During the debate, the Minister made it clear that 'animals as sentient beings' is already recognised as a matter of domestic law, primarily in the Animal Welfare Act 2006.

If an animal is capable of experiencing pain and suffering, it is sentient and therefore protected under this Act. As a result, the specific clause that was voted on earlier in the week was not necessary to ensure that animals retain their recognition as sentient beings or the subsequent protection.

We have been clear that we intend to retain and enhance our existing standards of animal welfare once we have left the EU. When we leave, all EU animal welfare law will be converted into UK law.

We will make sure that the same protections are in place in the UK and will consider further additional protections when the opportunity allows.

The Minister also stated that 'animals will continue to be recognised as sentient beings under domestic law' and that the Department for Environment, Food and Rural Affairs will consider how the sentience principle might be better reflected in wider UK legislation.

I sincerely hope that this information has clarified the situation for those who were concerned regarding the meaning of the vote.

Rt Hon Alun Cairns MP, Barry.

Why no EIA for Biomass plant?

BARRY residents are shocked and dumbfounded at the recent decision by Natural Resources Wales that they are 'minded' to grant a permit to operate for the Biomass incinerator currently nearing completion at Barry Waterfront.

Its location next to thousands of homes and over a dozen schools is insane! Never mind a permit to operate, how was planning permission ever granted for this?

The truth is that it shouldn't have been, and wouldn't have been, if it had been subject to an Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) at the planning application stage.

Not having an EIA means important health and safety protections for Barry town have been ignored, including a non-technical summary for the public, an environmental protection plan, stringent monitoring, compliance and environmental auditing and crucially, decision making on whether to approve the plan or not and finding alternative sites.

The Town and Country Planning Regulations (2017) are clear: if you burn or have the capacity to burn over 100 tonnes a day, your plant is automatically classed as Schedule 1 and therefore an EIA is required.

The Biomass UK incinerator in Barry will burn 200 tonnes of waste wood per day. Surely, common sense (as well as the law!) tells us that Biomass UK must be made to provide an Environmental Impact Assessment before they are allowed to operate?

Yet somehow, Biomass UK managed to avoid being classed as a Schedule 1 project requiring an EIA, even though they burn double the amount needed to qualify.

Now they are in a position to put pressure on Natural Resources Wales to approve their near-completed incinerator without complying with UK law on EIA.

It beggars belief! It is clear that planning was granted with insufficient information because of the absence of EIA information.

Essential protection has been denied to Barry town – including to its most vulnerable population; expectant mothers, growing children and babies, elderly people and sick people suffering with asthma, COPD and other breathing difficulties.

All these people have been let down by the failure to make Biomass UK provide an EIA for their incinerator.

A public enquiry into how this scandalous situation has come about needs to be called for. Alvine Westerland, Barry.

Barry Round Table's big present to the community

IT'S Christmas! That can only mean one thing for Barry Round Table: 'Making Memories', and this year it will definitely do more within our community.

For the Round Table, Christmas planning starts in February with the first steps of planning and developing ideas ready to make December one that is as magical as possible for as many children as possible.

They launched it all last week with the support of Bro Radio with a two-hour takeover listing all the sleigh routes for 2017 - with three new routes for 2017 following an increase in the Round Table's membership which include Cadoxton, Buttrills and Highlight Park.

This year, they are out on 20 different occasions touring the streets of

Barry and at local supermarkets.

None of this would be possible if it wasn't for the kind support of local business who have sponsored the Barry charity calendar and sleigh routes.

For the full list of events, visit their Facebook page 'Barry Santa Sleigh', where each night there will be a Santa Tracker system to help families find where they are.

The Santa sleigh and the calendar will raise funds to support local good causes and charities in and around Barry. This year, Barry Round Table is hosting a Christmas dinner for 50 older people who potentially will be lonely this year due to having no family or friends to support and help them.

Everything is planned and ready for hosting this event, following a successful Grow A

Tenner campaign and through the sales of the 2018 calendar. Each guest will receive three course dinner, entertainment and some gifts to help make their Christmas a little more cheerful. The event will take place on December 16 from 12pm to 4pm. All they need are people to attend, so if you know someone who could benefit from this, contact barry@roundtable.org.uk

If you would like one of the Barry charity calendars, they will be available every night on the sleigh, at the supermarkets and can be ordered via barrycharitycalendar.co.uk. They cost £5 and every single penny will go to support local good causes and charities.

Membership of Barry Round Table is the key being able to do more in our community. If there are any men aged 18-45 who would like to get out and take part in regular social activities and developing new skills while supporting the community, contact www.barryroundtable.co.uk.

Ladies don't miss out either, as Barry Ladies Circle, the sister club, is looking for new members too.

ICE CENTRAL IS BACK IN BARRY

THE crowds turned out in force over the weekend as Ice Central returned to Barry with a bang.

Following its hugely successful nine-day introduction last year, the Vale of Glamorgan Council has bought an ice rink back to a section of Central Park, this time for an extended period.

The undercover rink opened at 5.30pm on Saturday following the Christmas lights switch-on at King Square, with Mayor Janice Charles and Deputy Mayor Leighton Rowlands among the first to get their skates on.

They were joined by hundreds of others during the first two days of Ice Central's new five-week stint as this Christmas it will remain open until January 1 (excluding Christmas Day). There are three food outlets at the venue selling a selection of seasonal treats and a number of rides to enjoy.

Skating sessions will last 40 minutes and run from 10.30am to 6.30pm Monday to Wednesday and until 8.30pm Thursday to Sunday.

Tickets are priced at £7.50 for those aged 16 and over, £5 for under-16s and £15 for a family of four.

Expert rink installers 11th Hour Events, who also stage the likes of Cardiff's Winter Wonderland and Christmas Kingdom at the Celtic Manor, are again responsible for delivering the Council's premier festive event.

"After it proved so popular last Christmas, when I heard Ice Central was returning to Barry I had to be one of the first to get out there and enjoy the fun," said Cllr Rowlands.

"As a council, I'm thrilled we are able to bring this event back for an even longer period this time around. The rink not only offers children, adults and families the opportunity to sample a little festive magic in the heart of Barry, it also brings large numbers of visitors to the town, which can only benefit local businesses."

Dinas Powys Scouts fend for themselves

I'm a Dinas Powys Scout....no need to get me outta here!

ALMOST 20 members of the 1st Dinas Powys Scout troop entered the local woods to build shelters, light fires and roast some pork the old-fashioned way recently.

Paget Rooms welcome Father Christmas

Father Christmas took time out of his busy schedule to visit the Paget Rooms recently.

Aviation Society
THE Penarth Aviation Society will be meeting December 1 at 7.45pm for 8pm at the Penarth Conservative Club.

Only the kind of food grown or roaming in UK woods was taken in and the Scouts practiced preparing and eating it. Nine slept over in the shelters they had made, of natural woodland materials or tarps.

In the morning they re-lit their fires and tackled some fish gutting, preparing and cooking them on their fires.

It was cold, but dry, challenging but fun. After spending Saturday morning in the woods they embarked on their hour long hike home with their kit to the Scout hall in Dinas Powys, arriving home with a fresh appreciation of the shelter and comfort of their homes!

Sounds fun and want to join in as a member or a helper? Get in touch with your Scout group!

MT

DESPITE the gloomy November weather outside, on November 18, the Paget Rooms were buzzing as people jostled to buy presents, cakes and various unusual items on the many stalls at the annual Christmas Fayre organised by the Parish of Penarth and Llandough.

Father Christmas paid an early visit and the event raised £1,069 for parish funds. Organiser, Teresa Owen was delighted with the result and very grateful to all those who had given their time and talents so willingly.

Rotary Club of Dinas Powys supports disaster relief ShelterBox

AT the beginning of September, hurricanes Irma and Maria made landfall in the Caribbean. The ferocity of these storms was unprecedented and the need for humanitarian relief was overwhelming.

The Rotary Club of Dinas Powys, through Rotary International, donated £1,770 to the disaster relief charity 'ShelterBox', to support the provision of shelter to the families affected by natural disasters.

ShelterBox provide emergency shelter and tools for families robbed of their homes by disaster. This includes providing a Shelter Box which is a plastic container that includes, amongst other items, a tent, thermal blanket cooking pots and a water filtration kit to provide shelter, warmth and comfort for a displaced family.

Each fully-equipped Shelter Box costs £590, which includes the distribution costs needed to respond immediately to crises or disasters from one of their 21 locations around the world.

Tom Beaumont from ShelterBox said: "The kind donation of £1,770 means we can provide shelter to more families in times of disaster and continue to go where the need is most desperate. On behalf of everyone here in the office and on the ground, thank you for making a difference."

It is only through the generosity of people who attend our fundraising events and social evenings we can raise the money needed to support good causes both in the local community and internationally. We would like to thank you for your continued support.

Ferris wheel 'could return to Barry Island' from Clapham

The big wheel is now in London.
IMAGE by GLYN EVANS

THE Vale Council has stressed it never asked Henry Danter to take down the Ferris wheel at the Pleasure Park and didn't take enforcement action.

The wheel, which in a few weeks had become a familiar sight on the Barry skyline, was taken down on November 7 and 8.

Cllr Jonathan Bird, Vale Council cabinet member for regeneration and planning, said the council had attempted to work with Mr Danter for a number of years, and advice and guidance had been offered at "numerous" meetings, including legislative requirements before proposals were undertaken.

Cllr Bird said: "Unfortunately, it has been very rare for Mr Danter to heed that advice, instead progressing work without reference back to the relevant council departments."

"The current position with the Ferris wheel is a case in point. At no time has Mr Danter informed the council of the intention to erect a new wheel and no advice has been sought as to the need for planning permission."

"That aside, it is important to stress that despite writing to Mr Danter to advise him of the need for planning permission for the new wheel (which he accepts) along with other outstanding planning issues which remain unresolved, at no point was Mr Danter asked to take down the Ferris wheel, neither was any other enforcement action taken against him in relation to the structure."

"Mr Danter has simply been asked to apply for planning permission for a structure that by law required consent."

"There is absolutely no personal element to this issue. Clearly, the law applies to everyone and any other resident or business behaving in this fashion would have been dealt with in exactly the same way."

Cllr Bird added: "The council remains willing to work with Mr Danter, providing advice and guidance."

Mr Danter showed The GEM a letter he received from the council on October 23 which referred to a planning breach – the erection of the canopy extension and alteration to the arcade building at the Treasure Island location.

It also lists other unauthorised matters which include the installation of the Ferris wheel.

The letter concluded: "Failure to resolve this breach of planning control within 28 days given may result in formal enforcement action being against you. Your cooperation would, therefore, be appreciated in order to avoid the need for such action".

Mr Danter said: "We took it down because we needed to get planning permission. We appreciated the council was right."

He estimated that the wheel was about 4.8 metres over the 25-metre limit.

Mr Danter said the wheel's departure was an "embarrassment" for Barry.

The wheel has been relocated to Clapham in London, but Mr Danter said he will apply for planning consent from the Vale Council and hopes to bring the wheel back to the Island at some date in the future.

Parkman Funerals offers a personal and professional service

WE are an experienced, independent, family run and family owned business.

Our funeral director Huw Parkman has worked in the funeral profession, gaining a wealth of experience with the Co-operative Funeralcare and Green Willow Funerals.

Our vast experience covers many aspects of a funeral from traditional through to natural burials, including religious and non-religious ceremonies.

We can also offer direct cremations and eco-friendly funerals. Our pricing is clear and we advertise this online and in our office window.

As we are not on commission or target driven, this shows in our transparent prices.

We have signed the 'Fair Funerals Pledge' (fairfuneralscampaign.org.uk) which is an organisation campaigning for all funeral directors to advertise their prices clearly, with no hidden costs.

We are also members of the Good Funeral Guild and The Association of Green Funeral Directors, and are also recommended by The Natural Death Centre and work closely with Veterans' Bereavement Support.

We serve all parts of south Wales. We pride ourselves on creating a completely professional and personalised service, unique to each family we serve.

BRITISH STEEL COKING PLANTS DEADLINE - 23 FEBRUARY 2018

The High Court has appointed Hugh James and Irwin Mitchell as lead solicitors in a group action for conditions associated with employment at coke works operated by British Steel. Specifically:

- chronic obstructive pulmonary disease
- temporary exacerbation of asthma
- chronic bronchitis
- lung cancer
- squamous cell skin cancer

A closing date for notification of claims has been set by the Court as 23 February 2018.

If you think you or a deceased family member may have been affected and worked in a British Steel coke fuel plant as a coke oven worker and wish to consider joining the group, please contact Hugh James or Irwin Mitchell by 14 February 2018. They will send you further information and assess whether you may be eligible to join the group and claim compensation.

You may instruct an alternative solicitor other than Hugh James or Irwin Mitchell, and if you do it will be their responsibility to submit notice on behalf of any individual wishing to join the litigation to Hugh James and Irwin Mitchell and to the Defendants, before the closing date for notification of claims.

Gladstone Primary School supports Children In Need

CHILDREN in Need 'fever' hit Gladstone Primary with children and staff wearing spots, stripes and pyjamas for the day.

Many activities and competitions took place throughout the day to promote this important cause and children made cakes which sold within minutes at the end of the day.

"Many thanks to our Gladstone families who supported Children in Need. The total raised on the Friday was just over £450 and we would like to thank all our children for joining in with such enthusiasm," said Clare Jones, KS2 (and Pudsey Bear) coordinator. SS

A new member for Barry and District Soroptimists

IT is particularly appropriate that Dr Jane Salisbury should become the latest member of Soroptimist International Barry and District as, in 1973, while a pupil at the Barry Girls Grammar School, she was awarded £50 by the club for being "a promising and achieving student".

Jane didn't disappoint. After training as a teacher of English and Textiles in Glamorgan College of Education, she taught for 12 years in state secondary schools throughout south Wales, before joining Cardiff University in 1990 as a lecturer.

In 1991, she enrolled as a PhD candidate, had her daughter, Anna, and completed her doctorate in less than three years.

During her 23 years as an academic, Jane conducted and published research on gender and differential attainment, the EU, UK and Welsh policy contexts for education and vocational training.

She also undertook significant leadership roles for the university. These included the director of post graduate research students, and course director for trainee further and higher education teachers. She is currently holds an honorary position at the School of Social Sciences.

Since retiring, Jane is still very active in the local arts scene. She is also executive member, as well as annual conference organiser for Wales Assembly of Women (WAW) and co-ordinator of the annual Audrey Jones Memorial Awards (for research on women and girls conducted by women based in Welsh Universities).

Jane's hobbies include creating garments from 'upcycling', Zumba and Tai Chi. She lives in Barry and Limousin, France, with painter Alan Salisbury.

'Thank you for supporting Poppy Appeal'

THE immense generosity of the public in Barry, Rhose and Peterston super Ely has continued to make us feel very humble.

Last year's appeal, which ended on September 30, 2017 raised a staggering £57,577.79. This year, after an incredibly busy poppy appeal fortnight, we are almost at £50,000 already, with more money coming in daily.

We are really proud of the young people who, through nine youth organisations volunteering to help us, and the area's schools, so far have raised £21,288.46.

We also need to pay tribute to our fantastic volunteers who supported us tirelessly and, of course, our corporate supporters who hosted our collectors and looked after them with hot drinks and snacks; or who put a poppy box on their counters, or a display in their shop window or in a church.

Finally we would like to thank everyone who marched or supported the Armistice parades and services, which were massively well attended.

We are looking forward to a busy World War One centenary year, lots planned, including our very own Festival of Remembrance featuring among others the South Wales Police Band complete with a corps of drums, and a drumhead service on September 22. Tickets are available from the Memo or via their website.

Thank you, each and every one of you for your support.

Roy and Teresa Goodwin, Poppy Appeal Barry, Rhose and Peterston.

Enfys craft fair

THE last Enfys craft fair for 2017 will take place on Saturday, December 2 at St Ffransis Millennium Hall, Park Road, Barry; free entry, open 10am and 4pm.

The crafts available cannot be found in the High Street: gifts can be found for everyone and of every age, for him, for her and the children.

Fabric crafts present shopping bags, place mats, Christmas decorations, cushions, pencil cases, makeup bags, baby shoes and puppets. There are jewellery, wood turned gifts, cakes, cards, paperweights, photographic 2018 calendars, paintings and lots more.

Enfys' raffle charity for December is Kidney Wales Foundation, in memory of Mostyn Gardner, one of our crafters who passed away this year. This year's raffles have raised over £600 for different charities. Grateful thanks to all who have contributed and to our two volunteers who run the raffle.

Ann's kitchen has been adding new mouth-watering dishes to her menu each month. Come along and taste her delicious and reasonably priced food.

News from the Friends and Neighbours Group

NOVEMBER saw a busy month for Friends and Neighbours, starting early November with a Trip to Caerphilly Garden Centre with lunch.

They enjoyed looking at the many colourful Christmas decorations, gifts etc and decorated Christmas trees. They were amazed by the way the garden centre was tastefully decorated and the coordination of colours.

Many of them bought decorations and gifts to take home as well as plants.

They then enjoyed a tasty, hot, well presented lunch which was served quickly and efficiently by the staff (this being their largest party - 45 in all).

The proof of their enjoyment in the meal was an empty plate and the many lovely comments.

The last meeting of the year at Beryl Road Pioneer Hall was well attended by some 65 members and a visit from Cllr Janice Charles, Vale Mayor.

Entertainment was provided by Barry Community Choir and the programme was started by a poetry reading by Beryl Weale, which depicted life in the Valleys and her family which was her own composition.

This was both amusing and clever. The choir conducted by Emma Arscott and accompanist Chris Fossey performed a repertoire of well-known lyrics both new and old, including a variation of Les Miserables which was well enjoyed and applauded by all.

A vote of thanks was given and members and choir enjoyed tea/coffee, cakes and biscuits.

Members all gave in menus for the forthcoming Christmas party and lunch to be held at Brynhill Golf Club.

The raffle was drawn and a vote of thanks followed to all the volunteers and to the members for coming.

War Museum targeted by vandals for third time

Cutting the fifth anniversary cake, but volunteers were later shocked to discover another act of vandalism had taken place in a building on Plymouth Road.

A FIFTH anniversary party celebrating the creation of Barry War Museum was soured when staff and volunteers discovered another incident of vandalism.

On Saturday, November 25, spirits were high as the museum's supporters sang 1940s songs and enjoyed afternoon tea.

The pleasant afternoon was interrupted when a member of the group discovered that there had been yet another vandal attack at the nearby Plymouth Road exhibition building, the third this year.

There was huge disappointment and dismay. However, the group quickly invoked a true wartime spirit, determined not to let the incident dampen their celebratory mood.

Glenn Booker, chairman of the Barry at War Group said: "There was no way that the action of these mindless vandals was going to mar this special day.

"Our volunteers have worked very hard over the last five years to build Barry's only museum and while we are concerned about our future plans to extend into the Plymouth Road building, we still had a lot to celebrate".

John Buxton, managing director of the Barry Tourist Railway and patron of the Barry War Museum, issued an appeal to the public: "It's such a shame that these mindless vandals are delaying our plans; these people must be caught or the whole community will be the loser."

The police forensic staff have visited the site and taken finger prints. Graffiti left at the site includes the initials LJS, DLC and WOOLY.

Should any residents or GEM readers recognise any of these clues, they should call the police on 101 or John Buxton on 01446 748816 without delay. GR

SULLY PRIMARY PUPILS AT SENEDD

PRIMARY pupils took over the Council's chamber as they hosted their very own meeting modelled on the Welsh Assembly Government's Senedd.

The pupils took part in voting for their representative, such as Minister for Sport and Minister for Environment.

The Vale Mayor, Cllr Janice Charles, assisted the First Minister to conduct the meeting, along with Cllr Rachel Nugent-Finn and Cabinet Member for Education, Cllr Bob Penrose.

Cllr Penrose said: "It was a pleasure welcoming the schoolchildren to the Council Chamber to allow them to conduct their Senedd meeting and using the council equipment. This was the first event of its kind, and I hope this can be followed by other schools in the Vale."

The Senedd discussed ambassador roles and topics relating to central and local government, as well as their school's aims and objections for the next coming year.

Youth Champion Cllr Leighton Rowlands, who also attended the event, said: "It was great to welcome children to the Council Chamber to break down the preserved barrier that the council is a stuffy institution."

A visitor to Barry Island

Possibly a curled octopus (Eledone cirrhosa).

In recent weeks, there have been reports of considerable unusual activity in the octopus community in Wales.

A video taken in west Wales showed a large number of octopuses taking an evening stroll along the beach.

Today, Monday, Barry

resident Julie Phillips found one out and about in daylight, at Barry Island.

Julie told The GEM: "Whilst walking my Springers Sky and Patch on Whitmore Bay beach, I came across this stunning Octopus. A first for all of us, amazing!"

She added that it was almost a foot wide when spread out, and that she had placed it back in the water.

CAROLS, READINGS AND POEMS AT ST LAWRENCE

THE old former St Lawrence Church at Fort Road, Lavernock will be hosting a candlelit hour of carols, readings and poems at 3pm on Sunday, December 3.

There will be a warm welcome for all who would like to attend and the service will be followed by mulled wine and mince pies in the Marconi Inn across the road. Free parking on the left of Fort Road just before the church. Enquiries to Rev Margaret Stark on 02920 701303.

Biomass consultation lasts until January 22

NATURAL Resources Wales (NRW) has launched another consultation after announcing that it plans to issue an environmental permit to allow Biomass UK No 2 Ltd to operate its gasification facility in Barry.

It is the fourth public consultation undertaken by NRW on the application and will run until January 22.

NRW will share details of the assessment it has made, and copies of the draft permit conditions it would enforce.

The consultation also offers local people, businesses and professional organisations an opportunity to bring forward new information and to understand how NRW came to its draft decision.

NRW says it is satisfied that appropriate measures will be in place to allow it to operate without damaging the environment or the health of local people.

Nadia De Longhi, operations manager for NRW, said there had been close scrutiny of the application and that in the event the permit is granted the company would be closely monitored.

"We know that people still have concerns about this facility and I want to reassure them that we will only grant the permit once we are sure that the applicant can meet the strict standards required."

"We have closely scrutinised the application, and where we've needed to, we've asked for more detail and clarification to help us reach this decision."

"Throughout this consultation we'll be happy to consider any new evidence or information that is relevant to our decision. If we do go ahead and grant the permit, we will closely monitor the company's operations to make sure it continues to meet these strict conditions for as long as it operates."

NRW emphasised it is legally required to grant an environmental permit if a company can demonstrate that it can operate within environmental legislation.

The permit will regulate the control of emissions, handling and storage of waste, general operational management and fire risk. It does not cover issues such as the location of the plant, emissions from traffic, volume of lorries travelling to and from the site and origin of the wastes.

The Vale's AM, Jane Hutt, who is opposing the application, said the consultation period, which spans the whole of the festive period and reaches well into the new year was welcome.

"At the DIAG meeting I chaired on November 13, attended by NRW chair Diane McCrea, I called for an extension of the consultation period."

"I welcome this positive response, following the deeply disappointing news that NRW was minded to issue a permit for the incinerator in Barry."

"This is strongly opposed not only by the people of Barry but also statutory consultees."

"I am pleased that NRW has agreed to attend a public meeting in the new year. I once again stress my objection to Biomass No 2. There is overwhelming and mounting evidence against the granting of this permit."

The issue will take centre stage at the next meeting of Barry & Vale Friends of the Earth on Tuesday, December 5 (7.30pm in the Castle Hotel, Jewel Street, Barry).

The group says it will be working with the Docks Incinerator Action Group to encourage as many people as possible to write to First Minister, Carwyn Jones, asking him to exercise his powers by telling NRW to stop the process.

Plans afoot for centenary drumhead ceremony

FOLLOWING a hugely successful and generously supported Poppy Appeal, for which figures will be available soon, Barry Royal British Legion are delighted to announce that we will be staging a Festival of Remembrance with a full drumhead ceremony to mark 100 years since World War One ended.

Taking place on Saturday, September 22 at 7pm in the Memo Arts Centre, the evening will feature the South Wales Police Band and Barry Male Voice Choir with other special guests.

Tickets are available through the Memo box office or website priced at £12 or £10 for concessions (OAP, U/16 and RBL members) with all profits going to the Poppy Appeal. We are advising early booking to avoid disappointment.

This event is one of several planned to mark the Centenary of the ending of 'The Great War, The War to End All Wars'.

The First Step to a Better Smile

CAVC collects 'Beacon' for apprentice project

A PIONEERING programme to provide vocational career routes to 14 to 16-year-olds led by Cardiff and Vale College has won a national award for further education initiatives.

CAVC's junior apprenticeship programme beat the competition from the rest of the UK's Further Education (FE) institutions to win the Association of College's Beacon Award for Transition into Post-16 Education and Training, sponsored by the Skills and Education Group.

This latest accolade sits alongside the Beacon Pearson Award for Promotion and Delivery of Apprenticeships Cardiff and Vale College won in 2016.

The Beacon Awards recognise colleges that have displayed imaginative and innovative approaches to teaching and learning in the UK's FE sector.

Now in their 24th year, the Beacon Awards represent the best colleges across the country that adapt to meet the needs of local employers and the career needs of their students.

Jointly funded by Welsh Government Creative Solutions, CAVC, Cardiff Council and Cardiff schools, the Junior Apprenticeship programme was launched in September 2016 to increase the number of young people in education, employment and training.

Offering year-10 and 11 pupils the opportunity to study full-time in a college setting from the age of 14 for a future career, the programme was the first of its kind in Wales.

This summer saw the first cohort of year-11s all successfully graduate and secure a place on a higher level course at the college or an apprenticeship.

At the end of the first year, junior apprentices who hadn't attended school for a whole year were achieving 90 per cent attendance.

Of the Cardiff learners who were identified as the most vulnerable when they started, 75 per cent are no longer considered to be in that category based on their attendance, engagement and progress.

The Welsh Government is now encouraging other colleges to roll out similar junior apprenticeship programmes across Wales.

The Beacon Award judges were impressed by the way junior apprentices allows young people full time access to vocational courses alongside English and maths GCSEs.

They saw the initiative as providing a more meaningful, vocational route at a younger age that motivates and accelerates learners to progress into post-16 provision and eventually a fulfilling career.

CAVC principal Kay Martin said: "We are absolutely thrilled to have won the Beacon Award for Transition into Post-16 Education and Training.

It is a testament to the hard work and determination shown by everyone who works on the sector-leading junior apprenticeship programme, from college, Cardiff Council, the Welsh Government and local schools and I am hugely proud of their achievement.

There has been comprehensive 14-16 learning pathway provision operating in colleges across the UK for the last 25 years offering many learners half-day or one-day vocational programmes.

"The junior apprenticeship programme takes that model significantly further.

"It helps young people who might have thought that school wasn't for them by offering alternative career routes in a fresh environment, providing challenges and chance to learn in a way they can identify with.

"We will continue to support schools while creating a culture of success and raise the aspirations for learners who are most at risk of disengaging from mainstream education."

RSPCA LAUNCHES WINTER APPEAL

RSPCA Cymru is braced for thousands of calls this festive season as it launches its 'Kindness at Christmas Appeal' to help care for abused, neglected and sick animals.

During December last year and January (2017), 5,932 incidents were reported to the RSPCA in Wales with 141 of those happening across Christmas Eve, Christmas Day and Boxing Day.

New figures from the animal welfare charity show that during the same period (December 2016/January 2017), the charity received 118,799 calls across England and Wales - 1,916 calls a day (79.8 calls an hour, 1.3 calls a minute.)

From poorly, unwanted pets callously dumped on the streets to animals and wildlife deliberately cruelly treated, RSPCA inspectors are preparing to see heart-breaking cruelty and neglect this festive season.

The RSPCA across England and Wales expects to take in around 19,000 animals in need this December and January and desperately needs your help to care for them.

RSPCA Cymru superintendent Martyn Hubbard said: "It's a sad fact that every day at work throughout the year can be tough for our inspectors and animal welfare and collection officers, but winter really does come with its own challenges and issues.

"During the festive season alone last year, we rescued hundreds of animals, many of whom had been cruelly abandoned, injured or abused.

"But we also saw so many acts of kindness by animal lovers who cared for animals that had been abandoned, to those who reported suffering animals to our cruelty hotline or volunteers caring for animals in our centres and branches.

"We are asking animal lovers across the country to show kindness this Christmas by supporting our winter appeal."

To help the RSPCA to continue rescuing, rehabilitating and rehoming animals in desperate need of care, and to support the charity's 'kindness' campaign, visit www.rspca.org.uk/winterappeal.

FREEMASONS DONATE TO LOCAL BLOOD BIKES WALES

BLOOD BIKES Wales, the 'fifth emergency service' after the police, fire and ambulance services, and the RNLI, provides a vital service to the NHS transporting blood supplies, plasma, documents and other items between hospitals outside of weekday hours, on weekends and bank holidays.

This service, which is 100 per cent and run totally by volunteer riders, saves the NHS substantial sums which can be used for frontline patient care.

A new motorcycle had been donated by the Masonic Benevolent Fund of South Wales, and this will be going into service immediately.

The photograph shows Blood Bike Wales Area committee Andrew Morgan of Bonvilton (left) with the new bike, together with trustees of the Masonic Benevolent Fund of South Wales Simon Francis, Martyn Ridge (treasurer) and Patrick Pattison.

In presenting a cheque for £6,000 to Andrew (himself a Freemason and very dedicated to the work of Blood Bikes), Patrick said: "We are very pleased on behalf of our committee of trustees, and the Freemasons of South Wales, to make this donation to such a worthwhile and vital service to the community of South Wales."

Community Christmas meal
CADOXTON Youth Project and Barry Communities First will host a free Christmas meal (and food bag) on Saturday, December 2 at Victoria Park Community Centre, Church Road, Barry (CF63 1JY) from 6pm - 9pm.

Reservations, by note only (including numbers) to: Cadoxton Youth Project (Rita's Cafe), 97 Main Street, CF63 2HL by November 29. 60 places only, children under 16 must be accompanied. Santa colouring competition and children's fancy dress competition too!

PACT meeting
WHY not come along to Penarth Police Station (front desk) on Thursday, November 30 when PCSO Leighanne Norris will be available for a chat between 4.30pm and 5.30pm?

ALY and allies try to tackle sheep worrying

THE two-day 'Animals, Land and You' event took place at the Royal Welsh Show's Winter Fair on Monday and Tuesday this week, aiming to "help pet owners, dogs, livestock and other animals live harmoniously alongside one another".

Animals, Land and You (ALY) is co-ordinated by the Animal Welfare Network for Wales, a coalition of organisations which shares the aim of improving welfare standards for animals across the country.

The importance of the event was highlighted by police statistics which stated that between May 2014 and May 2015 there were 108 separate incidents of livestock attacks recorded in north Wales, most of which involved sheep (North Wales Police). Across the UK as a whole, in 2016, 15,000 sheep were killed, and 49 dogs destroyed, as a consequence of sheep worrying (SheepWatch UK).

Nic De Brauwere, chair of the Animal Welfare Network for Wales, said: "We all want to see a rural Wales where pet owners, dogs, livestock and other animals live harmoniously alongside one another - but so many challenges exist."

"We know 15,000 sheep across the UK in 2016 were killed through sheep worrying alone. Clearly, there's a need for animal welfare groups to collaborate, and share vital information at events like this, which can keep dogs, livestock and other animals safe around each other."

Lesley Griffiths, Cabinet Secretary for Energy, Planning and Rural Affairs, added: "The Welsh Government and the Wales Animal Health and Welfare Framework Group are dedicated to delivering 'continuing and lasting improvements in standards of animal health and welfare', and are delighted to work with the Animal Welfare Network Wales's ALY initiative to help achieve this."

HOLTON ROAD CHRISTMAS LIGHTS AND FUN WEEKEND IS A REAL BLAST

THE Holton Road illuminations and two-day Christmas event in Barry proved a huge draw last weekend.

There were stalls with Christmassy gifts, entertainers, performers on stage, Ice Central, donkeys, Santa, and of course, the big switch-on of the lights.

Local photographer Jodie Woolley captured these festive images on Saturday evening.

The event was an opportunity for local shops to demonstrated the huge number of goods and services available on Holton Road as part of the 'Shop Local' campaign.

As you can see from Jodie's images, the Barry public responded with real enthusiasm.

Family release statement after guilty verdict

AFTER 20-year-old Joseph Fettaf from Rhose was found guilty at Cardiff Crown Court of causing the death of Jenna Miller by dangerous driving, Jenna's family released a statement thanking the police, witnesses and the Crown Prosecution Service.

The events leading up to the court case took place on Cardiff Road, Barry, in September last year.

The family statement said: "We as a family are pleased that Joseph Fettaf has been found guilty of causing Jenna's death by dangerous driving.

"It was extremely difficult for us to have to sit through the trial listening to him trying to squirm out of his responsibilities.

"We wish to thank all witnesses who assisted and subsequently attended court, and we would also like to express our gratitude to South Wales and Gwent police forces and the Crown Prosecution Service for all the work that has gone in to this thorough investigation.

"We now look forward to overcoming the final hurdle when the two offenders will be sentenced, and hopefully handed a lengthy prison term."

Detective Constable Matthew Lindsey, of the Serious Collision Investigation Unit, said: "Our thoughts are with the family of Jenna Miller, who have shown great dignity and courage throughout the court proceedings.

"I'd also like to pay tribute to my colleagues at both South Wales Police and Gwent Police, who have all worked determinedly to investigate this case and secure justice for the family and friends of Mrs Miller.

"This tragic case highlights the dangers of racing on our roads. Young people, and indeed drivers of all ages, need to understand that if you speed, you're putting your own and other people's lives at risk. Whether it is racing along a seemingly quiet road, or driving just a few miles-an-hour over the speed limit, it is a risk that is simply not worth taking.

"In this particular case, the reckless actions of two thrill-seeking drivers have robbed two young boys of their mother, and family members and friends of a loved one."

Jamie Oaten, from Barry, had earlier pleaded guilty to causing death by dangerous driving.

FINE FOR UNLICENSED LANDLORD

AN unlicensed Barry landlord has been fined more than £1,000 after being found guilty at Cardiff Magistrates Court.

A legislation that introduced the landlord registration process and the requirement for landlords and agents, who let and manage rental properties in Wales to be licensed, came into force on November 23, 2015.

The legislation made provision for those who needed to comply to do so within a year.

Self-managing landlord Damian Cross of Rhodfa'r Gwagenni, Barry was found guilty of failing to become licensed for letting and management activities for a property at Beaconsfield, Romilly Road, Barry.

Mr Cross had registered the property but not applied for a licence.

He failed to pay a Fixed Penalty Notice for his non-compliance, or submit a licence application or appoint an agent.

He was fined £660 for two offences under the Housing (Wales) Act 2014, and ordered to pay court costs of £543 and a £33 victim surcharge.

Cllr Hunter Jarvie, Vale Council Deputy Leader and Member of the Shared Regulatory Services Joint Committee, said: "It has been over a year since the deadline for all landlords with properties in Wales to become registered, and it is not acceptable that there are landlords and agents who still try to work around this law.

"There is no excuse for a commercial agent not to be registered and licensed, and the recent prosecution of an unlicensed Barry landlord, is proof that we are taking action. I encourage any landlords who use a commercial agent to check they are Rent Smart Wales compliant."

'Arctic' plunge

ON Sunday, December 3 at 11am, Sarah Rees Brown will plunge into the Bristol Channel at Barry Island, raising money for the charity Cwtch which organises parties and provides gifts for children over the festive season.

Anyone willing to donate or volunteer (to help with the parties, dive into the sea or both) can call 07907 439708 or drop the cash at Beauty Basics, Broad Street, Barry.

Will 'calamitous' A465 overspend of 23 per cent affect Dinas bypass?

THE Conservatives say they fear an estimated £50m overspend on upgrades to the A465 road between Abergavenny and Hirwaun could have a knock-on affect on other road projects.

The Welsh Cabinet Secretary for Economy and Transport, Ken Skates, confirmed a 23 per cent overspend figure in a written statement early this week.

The Conservatives said the potential cost to taxpayers could be as much as £50 million.

Leader of the Welsh Conservatives, Andrew RT Davies, said: "These delays could cost in the region of £50 million, and the Cabinet Secretary needs to clarify where the money is coming from.

"If the money is to be drawn from the department's existing resources, which transport projects will have to give way in order to pay for this calamity?"

One Vale councillor said there could be a by GEM REPORTER GOT A STORY? Call us on 01446 774484 or email editorial@glamorgan-gem.co.uk negative knock-on for potential projects in the area such as Dinas Powys bypass.

Cllr Vincent Bailey said: "This shambles could end up costing taxpayers £50 million. Just imagine what that could do for transport infrastructure projects in the Vale - like the Dinas Powys bypass."

A Welsh Government spokesman told The GEM: "The Welsh Government is currently in dispute with Costain on a number of matters around the allocation of risk in the contract to ensure they are only paid what they are contractually entitled to.

"The overspend on this project will be apportioned between Costain and Welsh Government strictly in accordance with the contract terms."

A spokesman for Costain said: "We do not comment on specific commercial discussions in relation to our clients but continue to work closely with the Welsh Government to deliver this complex project."

MUSIC FOR MIND

MIND Cymru is holding its first Christmas concert in the President's Lounge at the Principality Stadium at 4pm on Sunday, December 3.

The concert will feature the Melingriffith Community Band and award-winning Youth Brass Band, who will be performing a variety of traditional Christmas classics as well as some more modern songs.

Tickets £10 for adults, £8 children and concessions (under-5s are free), and are available from www.mind.org.uk/christmasconcert.

Charity coffee mornings

THE Armed Forces charity, Woody's Lodge, will hold a coffee morning on November 30 from 10am-12pm in Barry.

The event will be held in King Square Art Central Gallery and all are welcome. Entry will be £1.50 and all proceeds will go towards the Vale Mayor's charity, Woody's Lodge.

Woody's Lodge, based in the grounds of HMS Cambria in Sully, was launched to commemorate Marine and Special Boat Service member Paul Woodland from Penarth, who died in 2012.

It aims to provide veterans with access to charities, advice, counselling and a place to socialise with other veterans.

Its motto is: 'Giving Space and Time' and the idea is to have a place under one roof where veterans of any age or background from the Vale or Cardiff can meet and connect with the help they require, be it social, mental or practical.

It is a special, unique quiet and safe space for veterans to meet with support agencies and to socialise at the same time.

Barry Ladies' Choir will hold a coffee morning on December 7 from 10am-12pm in King Square Art Central Gallery. Entry will be £1.50 and all proceeds will go towards Barry Ladies' Choir.

The choir has been an important part of the local music scene for at least 60 years. It was formed in the 1930s as the Great Western Railway Choir, but changed its name in that period.

Recently, the choir has performed at many functions including concerts at community centres, hospitals and residential homes. We always welcome new members and if anyone would like to join us, we meet every Tuesday night at 7pm in Crossway Methodist Church, Court Road, Barry (CF63 4ET).

The Mayor of the Vale, Cllr Janice Charles, will hold a coffee morning on December 14 from 10am-12pm in King Square Art Central Gallery. Entry will be £1.50 and all proceeds will go towards the Mayor's charities, including Woody's Lodge.

The Barry and District Soroptomists work at local, national and international level to create opportunities to educate, empower and enable women and girls and to strive for equality for all.

The Soroptomist vision is committed to a world where women and girls together achieve their individual and collective potential, realise aspirations and have an equal voice in creating strong, peaceful communities worldwide.

Coastlands Family Church Baby Basics project volunteer-led project aims to support new mothers and families who are struggling to meet the financial and practical burdens of looking after a new baby.

It provides much needed essentials and equipment to mothers and families who are unable to provide these items for themselves.

BARRY HIGH STREET ENTERTAINS AT CHRISTMAS LIGHTS SWITCH ON

THE High Street traders' Christmas event is a key date in the Barry calendar, and this year, they held an indoor event which meant there was no need for a road closure.

As you can see from these images, there was lots of entertainment in the shops.

Most importantly, Father Christmas put in an appearance for the many excited children.

Aaron Jamieson (and mother) was one of many people to visit Santa at Nina Estate Agents.

Jasper Blakeley and Frank Haschka of Sideshow Events with Fay Blakeley of Homemade Wales.

Barry Brass Band entertained the crowds.

Santa and his helpers at Nina Estate Agents.

Billboard Ensemble carol singing.

The Butterflies team.

A history of magistracy for Barry Men's Forum

ON the fourth of November, members of Barry Men's Forum welcomed Lynne Tippet, who gave a very interesting talk on the history and work of magistrates in England and Wales.

The first record of magistrates was during the reign of Richard I, known as The Lionheart, who were charged as Keepers of the Peace and to enforce the laws of the land.

As the years passed, magistrates effectively became the first incarnation of local government, acquiring a range of administrative duties such as the administration of the Poor Laws, maintenance of the transport, infrastructures such as bridges and highways and the regulation of weights and measures.

In addition, they had powers over hanging, whipping and transportation of offenders to distant lands from the early 1600s until the 1830s.

Until 1919, magistrates were all male but the first female was Ade Summers, who was the Mayor of Stalybridge at the time. Now there are more female magistrates than men.

AM congratulates Gibby Green Fingers project

VALE AM Jane Hutt visited the Gibby Green Fingers project to congratulate Nicky Vickery and her team of volunteers for gaining charitable status and taking forward the site in Gibbonsdown.

Ms Hutt said: "The Gibby Green Fingers Charity has given new hope to this 'green haven' in Gibbonsdown, welcoming teams of volunteers and I was delighted to see that the tree I planted nine years ago has grown beautifully! Thank you Nicky for your vision and determination."

CADOXTON CHRISTMAS CHEER!

We wish you a very merry Cadoxton Christmas

THERE was a time when Cadoxton was its own village – separate from Barry – and the area and its local traders retain that independent feel.

Family businesses on Barry Road, Church Road, Main Street and Vere Street have lasted for decades. People love an established business with a familiar, friendly face.

Carol Brown of Roy's Toys on Main Street is a case in point. The business has now been trading for 35 years and is a firm local favourite. On Friday when The GEM visited Carol, she was dealing with a constant stream of shoppers regulars, passers-by, and parents who had just picked up the children from school.

The shop is an Aladdin's cave of toys – of course – but much more, with all 'the necessities' for the festive season such as Christmas cards, wrapping paper, tags and gift bags.

Carol keeps up to date with all the latest toy trends so customers can be assured that she will either stock them or order them in.

She said: "The most popular toys this year are scooters. 'Five Nights at Freddy's', a video game, is also going well."

Despite all the high-tech offerings, it may surprise people to know that board games are still much in demand – and they're a great way of families having a fun time together over the holiday period.

Each year, Roy's Toys has its own Scout Christmas letter box. Deliveries take place across the Vale and Cardiff.

Carol said: "This year's deadline for the Scout post is for December 4, so people want to make sure their cards are in by that Monday."

Just around the corner at 7 Barry Road is Allison's Celebration Cakes.

Allison has been producing spectacular cakes for every sort of occasion since 1989.

Multi-tiered wedding cakes, special occasion cakes and birthday cakes – she does them all.

Each one has its own style. Over the years she's also produced novelty designs as diverse as Star Wars, the Beatles at the Abbey Road zebra crossing, and dogs in their basket.

For people who love cake decoration and sugarcraft, Allison has all the catering ingredients and tools required – sugar flowers, marzipan, cake boards in different colours, cutters, ribbons, edible and non-edible decorations, and cookie cutters. She also does cake stand hire.

For those interested, the Barry and Cardiff Sugarcraft Club meets at St Mary's Church Hall at 7.30pm on the third Friday of the month.

At this time of the year, people's attention often turns to home interiors and help is at hand at the Curtain and Net Centre at 2 Church Road.

The business offers a wide range of services, including made-to-measure and ready-made curtains, and curtain alterations.

For those wanting a much-loved suite or item of furniture revived, there are services in re-upholstery, furniture repair, and cushion replacement.

The Curtain and Net Centre has celebrated its 30th anniversary in Cadoxton.

'STAR WARS BARBER' IN SPECIAL OPENING

Steve Cleaver of Steve's Barbers.

STEVE'S BARBERS on Vere Street – also known as the 'Star Wars Barber' due to the fantastic displays of movie memorabilia – will be open from 7am until midday on Christmas Eve for appointments only.

The shop is open six days a week, Monday to Saturday, 9am to 5pm, except for midday closing on Wednesdays and 3pm on Saturdays. Christmas Eve is on a Sunday this year, so Steve Cleaver, who has run the business since 1999, has made an exception to open up for customers on that day.

Customers don't mind waiting for their hair to be styled or cut at Steve's Barbers; they just sit back and enjoy looking at all the movie and sporting items Steve has accumulated over many years.

Steve books appointments and welcomes walk-ins.

CADOXTON CHRISTMAS CHEER!

Compassionate support at a time of greatest need

LYNDSAY ELLIS @ The Vale Funeral Service is a family-run business with deep roots in the town.

Headed by husband and wife team, Lyndsay and Nicola Ellis, it incorporates 'W Spickett & Son' which was established in 1837 – it even operates from the same location at 181 Court Road. In fact, Spickett & Son is the oldest funeral director in Barry.

Lyndsay explained the company's ethos: "We can't make the pain of losing a loved one go away, but through our efforts our hope is to make the journey of grief less lonely and to alleviate as much pressure from the family as possible."

"From the moment a family contacts us, we are there for them every step of the journey."

Lyndsay and Nicola and the team have established an excellent reputation over the years.

A recent heartfelt testimonial read: "A big thank you to Lyndsay and the team for the brilliant service you provided. You took the stress away from us at this difficult time. You are above excellent, very professional and compassionate in what you do."

The business is well known for its support of local events and charity initiatives, and Lyndsay added: "We are very proud of being part of the Cadoxton and Barry community."

Lyndsay and Nicola are also delighted with excellent contribution to the business of Ben Hartery who is progressing to become a funeral director.

The telephone number for 'Lyndsay Ellis @ The Vale Funeral Service' is 01446 407962.

Carols in Cadoxton for Macmillan charity

THE ninth annual carol concert in aid of Macmillan Cancer Care takes place at Victoria Park on Friday, December 8.

It's a great opportunity for people to get into the Christmas spirit. The event is led by Julie Mahoney and the fabulous Barry Brass Band (BBB).

Carols begin at 6pm and there will be song sheets for everyone.

One of the organisers said: "Bring your best singing voice with you. Enjoy all your old favourites, bring the whole family, and your friends, and start to feel Christmassy!"

"Rowena and the BBB team will have teas, coffees, cakes, buns, and warm soup and rolls – all ready to keep you warm and in good voice. There will be a fun raffle, tombola and lots of prizes."

The event is led by Barry Brass Band.

"All proceeds from the event will go directly to Macmillan, so come and sing, and support a very worthy cause. Last year we raised over £600, so let's see if we can beat it."

Barry Rotary support Llamau

Jeff Howells (Llamau support assistant), Jordan Jenkins (Llamau), Caz Davies (Llamau area manager), Ann Harry and Jill Osborne.

AS part of their ongoing commitment to supporting their local community, the Rotary Club of Barry have presented a variety of gifts to the Llamau 2017 Christmas Appeal.

Llamau supports vulnerable young people and adults in the Vale. President nominee Ann Harry and president Jill Osborne recently visited Llamau to meet some of the staff and residents and present the gifts.

These donations have been made possible thanks to the generosity of the general public supporting the Rotary Club's ongoing fundraising events.

Anyone wishing to contribute to the Llamau Christmas appeal can contact Llamau at their office at 236 Holton Road, Barry (CF63 4HS) or call 01446 748853 or email jigso@llamau.org.uk.

Rotary has 1.2 million members (men and women) worldwide who form a global network of business, professional and community volunteers. The Rotary Club of Barry meets weekly in the Glenbrook on Thursdays at 6pm for 6.30pm.

If you would like further information speak to secretary Phil Hunt on 01446 720000 or look online at www.ribi.org.

Autumn and her kittens are looking for homes

MOTHER Autumn and her kittens Acorn, Bramble, Conker and Maple looking for new homes this winter.

The gorgeous kittens are at the Cats Protection Adoption Centre in Bridgend, and will be ready to go to their forever homes from the New Year.

Anyone interested in offering a home to one of these kittens, or their mother, or to any of the other cats and kittens in the care of the Bridgend Adoption Centre, should contact 01656 724396 or bridgend@cats.org.uk.

Can you offer Autumn or her kittens a home? Photo by Sue Dobbs.

Otis is looking for an active home!

OTIS is a fit nine-year-old Patterdale Terrier and despite his age, he still has bags of energy to burn, so he is looking for an active home.

He is a very bright lad and still loves to learn new tricks! He does enjoy his walks, having a good run off lead and playing with his toys.

Otis tends to prefer socialising with female dogs (he is a proper little charmer). He is house trained and can be left for a few hours. He can live with children 11 years and above and is missing his home comforts.

If you would like to know more about Otis, then contact Dogs Trust Bridgend on 01656 725219 or pop down to the centre at Court Colman CF31 4NG. You can also visit the website at www.dogstrust.org.uk.

NFU ladies hold fashion show

A BIG thank you goes to the Barry store, Bon Marché for staging a wonderful fashion show with the NFU ladies as models.

Mrs Kay Gay thanked the ladies for their hard work, which was enjoyed by all.

Numerous raffle prizes were also won. On December 13, the meeting of the NFU Ladies takes place at 7pm in Penllyn Church when a carol service will be held, followed by a party in Penllyn Village hall. Everyone should bring a plate of food. RJE

Sophie raises money for Marie Curie

MISS Sophie Norris (22) of Barry recently held a charity event to help raise funds for the Penarth Marie Curie Hospice by selling Christmas lollipops.

In the process Sophie raised £50 towards the charity.

Back in April 2017, Sophie won the title of Miss Vale Of Glamorgan, and Marie Curie was her chosen charity.

Sophie continues to raise money for the hospice and in total has raised £450.

Sophie says she will continue to help and support Marie Curie and will raise vital funds for people with terminal illnesses.

Another way to warm my cockles was a quick visit to the Taste of Thailand (Facebook: Taste of Thailand Bridgend) stall, which also has a very successful couple of sites in the indoor market.

All the favourites are there, from tom yum (hot sour soup) to gaeng ped (red curry) and gaeng massaman to pad thai. Run by a lovely family, this is authentic Thai food. I should know; I lived in Thailand for nigh-on a decade.

But before stepping inside the market, a quick jaunt to the town-centre butcher, T & H Morris, and an Aladdin's cave of meaty delights.

"Everything is as local as possible," Tudor tells me as he makes up packs of venison from an estate hardly any distance away.

Local turkeys, lamb and beef are available, as well as a range of home-made sausages (the Welsh Dragon is my choice), sausage-meat for stuffing and dry-cured bacon are all produced.

Game, he confides, is growing in popularity for the Christmas feast, and venison as described, as well as game birds are on offer.

There is even free delivery, but call for details. T & H Morris Butchers, Dunraven Place, 01656 768620.

Into the market and I catch the aroma of Thai food and a full English breakfast, but no time to stop, sadly.

It's over to the fruit and veg stall for a quick chat with Martin Nagle, who tells me that fruit and veg boxes are a speciality, as are decorative fruit baskets.

Lifelike faux holly wreaths are on display but, he advises, "We'll have the real thing in next week".

There might even be mistletoe soon...

He can also deliver; call 07772 657296 or visit for details.

Over on his pet stall, Martin says that a loyalty-card scheme is proving popular.

"Our deal at the moment is for Burns Pet Nutrition," he begins. "Buy seven 2-kilogramme bags – ask for a loyalty card first – and get the eighth free."

A range of treats and gifts, including toys, collars and leads for the special pet in your life, is also available.

Seasons opens its doors for Christmas 2017

SEASONS, Wales' largest Christmas store, opens its doors with all its new ranges for this coming festive season on the Brynmenyn Industrial Estate near Bridgend.

This truly unique Christmas store is a must see if you love everything 'Christmas'.

Now in its 17th year of selling Christmas products, this family business continues to expand with this year set to be the best ever.

The buyers at Seasons Christmas Outlet have yet again come up trumps scouring Europe and beyond sourcing thousands and thousands of exciting new items for their ever-growing army of customers. People young and old flock from all over the UK and abroad to see this truly sparkling magical store.

Seasons now stocks somewhere in the region of 20,000 Christmas goods, Christmas decorations, artificial trees and so much more, all under one roof. Browse Season's online store too, where items are also available to purchase on its impressive website.

There several spectacular display areas in the store. First stop for most visitors is its dazzling fibre optic and LED room, showcasing hundreds of indoor and outdoor items lit up.

Further inside you'll discover the stunning and popular Santa's Christmas Grotto, which always sells out and is now in its fourth year.

Earlier this year, Seasons' team of elves were busy redecorating Santa's home. The grotto's new makeover theme is surely set to delight Santa and his visitors once again.

To make a booking, go to the Seasons website and click the Grotto link to see available spaces on the calendar. SS

A brighter Bridgend Christmas

Martin's third stall in the indoor market is the lingerie shop, with a range of foundation garments, frillies, Cutty Sarks*, pyjamas, nighties and all sorts of other unmentionables.

Before leaving Bridgend Indoor Market, don't forget that the recently-rebuilt Rhui car park offers free, yes, free, parking for the first two hours.

All the traders agree that this is a good idea, even though the free parking scheme will end in March 2018.

Just like Jack Hargreaves, I am heading out of town, although hardly into the rural wilds of the county.

First stop is Theodore Sons & Daughters Reclamation and Building Salvage.

Having already used the phrase 'Aladdin's Cave', I must employ another.

It is the King Solomon's Mines of reclamation yards, and for someone like me who prefers old to new, and knows that chaps like Denis Theodore have been 'recycling', 'reloving' and 'upcycling' since before the hipsters that use these words were born, it's like a toy shop.

Slates? Yep. Doors? But of course. A chimney pot? Not a problem. Finials and crests? More than you can shake a stick at. Woodburners, hearths and beams? Oh yes...

Theodore's - on North Road in Bridgend Industrial Estate - is the place.

If they don't have it, they can usually source it. If you have something to sell, they may wish to buy it.

I ask Denis about 'trends', and in addition to woodburners and fireplaces ("The things everyone was ripping out 30 years ago..." he says), the Green Man, a symbol of rebirth, is rather in vogue these days and enjoying its own second coming. For the man who thinks he has everything, a quick visit to Theodore Sons & Daughters will prove them wrong. An ideal, and very different, shopping experience.

Call 01656 648936 or visit www.theodore-reclamation.co.uk.

A slight change of pace, and time to reflect that, for some, Christmas can be a trial, especially those mourning and particularly if this Christmas will be the first following the death of someone close.

Mel & Ron Watkins Funeral Services are extending a warm invitation to join them for their first Christmas Memorial Service which will take place on Friday, December 8 at Salem Chapel, Pencoed at 7pm.

Amy Watkins tells me: "Christmas is a wonderful time of the year for many but also one of sadness for those who have lost a loved one."

"We hope that our Christmas Memorial Service will become an annual event and will help remind families who have suffered a loss of the warmth of shared Christmases past, of the brightest Christmases to come and the importance of fellowship and support."

"Our service includes the opportunity to place a remembrance star on our memorial Christmas tree or to light a candle."

The service will be led by Reverend Richard Roberts and there will be performances from soloist Claire Edwards and Cowbridge Male Voice Choir, which will also lead some carol singing.

Over in pleasant Ewenny, Sam of the eponymous Samantha b ladies boutique tells

'Please don't give pets as Christmas presents'

Kittens may be cute, but they don't make good Christmas presents.

CHRISTMAS is approaching fast, but please do not give pets to young children for Christmas.

They will be so excited to see if Santa has been and overwhelmed by the amount of gifts they get, the poor little pet is often forgotten about on the day.

If you have lots of visitors, doors will be open and they could slip out unnoticed. A pet is a commitment from the start and could live up to 19 years of age, if a kitten or pup.

If your child would like a pet, think hard about it and get one after Christmas when things have calmed down.

People get offended if we refuse a kitten for Christmas, but kittens might get frightened and bewildered, they might then scratch and become nasty – that's when they are returned.

They need a quiet environment, to be socialised properly to grow up into a lovable companion to the family.

Maesteg Animal Welfare Society would like to wish everyone a happy Christmas.

me "It's time to get festive at Samantha b".

"It's the time of year to let our hair down and turn our attention to a more frivolous type of dressing. Whether you're a full on bling kind of girl or you prefer a more subtle look, we will have something to suit at Samantha b!"

"Velvet is one of the biggest looks this season, from a classic black velvet tuxedo to sumptuous jewel-coloured dresses and tunics from Adini. We also have the LBD (little black dress) from Bianca and pomodoro and a lovely twist on the LBD from Pont Neuf, from glitzy, velvet, patterned all with sleeves, perfect for the party season or a cruise. There is also a lovely navy velvet jacket by Olsen, perfect for a more formal look, or dress down with jeans.

"If you prefer something a little more subtle and casual, still with a little sparkle come and have a look at some of the tops from Olsen, Bianca signature and Fransa, just lovely!"

"If you are turning your attention to a lovely winter walk we have some lovely coats and gilets.

"For the hard to buy for friends and family we have a wonderful section of accessories, capes, scarves and lovely necklaces that are sure to please.

"If you're really stuck for an idea how about a voucher, allowing the lucky recipient to choose for themselves."

Sam added: "I really can't believe where this year has gone. I would like to thank all my customers for their continued support, this year we have helped to raise thousands of pounds for different charities through fashion shows and hope to do the same in 2018. Call in for a glass of sherry throughout December and look out for forthcoming dates.

At DragonAuto.Works, I am told of the 'ultimate Christmas present for car lovers'.

That is quite a boast, and so I was intrigued to learn more. Read on.

"Forget the fluffy dice, smelly air fresheners or Autoglym car care kits (other brands are available), there is a much more exciting present that will really put a smile on their face; a performance tuning gift card.

"Performance tuning, or 'remapping' is the ultimate in kudos for someone who loves their car and wants the best from it. This is the process of modifying a vehicle to enhance the performance abilities.

"On modern vehicles, the engine control unit (ECU) contains the software programming to control the vehicle performance. Things like turbo boost or injection rate are all determined by the vehicle manufacturer at point of production assembly.

"Vehicle manufacturers tend to de-tune their engine capabilities to comply with the multitude of emission regulations in the many different countries their vehicles are sold. Naturally, the manufacturers must set their cars up to meet the most stringent of restrictions generally beyond that which is required in our own country.

"Regardless of how remaps might be marketed by various companies offering tuning services, there's only really two results maximum performance or maximum economy from the engine.

"Some companies market various stages of this process or even various levels of modification but these maps seem to be a sort of off-the-shelf, one-map-suits-all generic download that hasn't considered the individual condition of your vehicle or any modifications already made.

"At DragonAuto.Works remaps are developed in house using a Dyno Developments rolling road along with genuine equipment & software for the process rather than cheap clones and downloads. The maps are custom to the car and come fully warranted.

"So why not make a dream come true this year? It's a better present than novelty socks..."

Now, who doesn't like a new hand tool for a bit of DIY at Christmas? It can be the ideal gift for the man or woman who, when the warm embrace of kith and kin or box-set bingeing, gets too much, decides to spend some time alone working on 'the project' in the garage, workshop or shed, or to fix the newel post. But where to go?

Riverside Hardware is more than a DIY store; it's a one-stop engineering store that bills itself as 'Wales' one and only premier industrial superstore'. The company prides itself on 60 years' experience, a bespoke, customer-focused approach and that staff are power-tool experts.

Aside from power tools from Draper for that all-important solo job, it is a leading retailer of Calor Gas portable heaters. Buy one, and no corner of your home – be it a manse or a studio flat – will feel the nip of the clean, cool chill of the holiday air.

The company also has a bright, new website – www.riversidehardware.co.uk – that is simple to navigate and filled with the latest offers across a range of products.

Visit the website, pop into the store on North Road on Bridgend Industrial Estate, or telephone 0656 662449.

Suburbicon – ‘Clooney covers the Coens and misses the high notes’

A & E unit ‘is now safe’

IHAD a letter printed in The GEM September 7 issue where I stated that ‘It beggars belief if the A & E department at The Royal Glamorgan is to close’.

I have today (November 27) attended a Welsh Health Specialist Services Committee meeting primarily to discuss and be informed about a major trauma network for south Wales, west Wales and south Powys as well as the future of thoracic surgery services in south Wales.

Also talked about was the Wellbeing Charter, all of which was very interesting and informative.

Among the questions that I asked was about the future of the A & E department at the Royal Glamorgan Hospital and it was confirmed by the chief executive that it will definitely be staying open!

Brilliant news for not only all of the residents in their catchment area, but all the excellent staff as well.

I certainly hope that you consider this letter worth printing as I feel sure it will impart brilliant news for your readers in the Royal Glamorgan area.

Thank you once again for such a good informative newspaper.

Season's greetings to one and all.
D Allan,
Name and address supplied.

THERE are things that just go together and work perfectly. Lennon and McCartney, gin and tonic (ice and a slice please), and, cinematically, George Clooney and the Coen brothers.

Clooney has worked with the siblings four times, but their latest collaboration has a slightly different slant, as Clooney and writing partner Grant Heslov have used an existing Coen's script for his sixth film as a director, Suburbicon.

Set in 1959, the titular town is shaken up both by the arrival of an African-American family, the Mayers, and also by the murder of Rose Lodge (Julianne Moore) after a home invasion.

As her husband Gardner (Matt Damon) and his son Nicky (Noah Jupe) try to readjust to their lives, Rose's twin sister Margaret (also Moore) moves into the family home.

But when insurance agent Bud Cooper (Oscar Isaac) starts sniffing around the family, suspicions grow about people's actions and intentions, and Suburbicon becomes a less-than-ideal place to live...

Suburbicon is a peculiar little film. On the one hand, you have the noir-ish story of a home invasion that leads to a murder, the lives of those involved irrevocably changed and their involvement questioned.

On the other, the story of how an African-American family move into the heartland of the American dream and find the welcome less than warm.

What is most disappointing is that George Clooney's film doesn't hit home with the first element of the story. The second is ill-served and feels more like a footnote or an attempt to bring some relevance to an otherwise straightforward-ish story of greed and violence (not for nothing do the Mayers have a fence built around their home – walls must have been in short supply).

What feels most awkward is that Clooney and Grant Heslov have taken a Coen brothers' script and attempted to inject a social relevance to it, and the join is clear to see – the story of Gardner Lodge and the home invasion, and the fallout, is pure Coens while the Mayers' story feels like Clooney crusading for the right reasons, much like Good Night and Good Luck.

It feels as if these would make two individual pieces of work rather than the ill-fitting film that results, and Clooney feels adrift in what it is he's trying to say. Certainly his depiction of the late 1950s American suburbs, with their prim and proper lawns, jolly postmen and gazes over the picket fence is spot on, but he is on less steady ground dealing with the dark underbelly.

Films like Double Indemnity and Strangers on a Train are obvious touchstones for Clooney and there is an edgy malevolence he brings to the table, but the story is lacking.

The big reveal comes too early, so rather than a steady build of clues as we see events unfold from the point of view of Nicky, we know exactly what's going on and that it most certainly isn't going to end well.

The performances are decent, but nothing overly captivating, both Matt Damon and Julianne Moore playing the 1950s ideal and digging beneath the surface, while Noah Jupe as Nicky is engaging as his world is turned upside down, and Oscar Isaac's shifty investigator is an ice-cold blast of Coen-ese, essayed shortly, but sharply, by the actor.

If you know your Coens, then you'll guess where the story may end up; after all murky men (and women) with murky morals and even murkier methods are very rarely rewarded by the brothers, but the Mayers' story, which you always feel is going somewhere, that will tie up some loose end, doesn't. Instead, they seem to be there purely as a plot point, which is immensely disappointing, as Clooney is a filmmaker who you feel has more smarts than that.

It all ends up as a bit of a raggedy mess, a film that ultimately doesn't really engage. It's a shame that Suburbicon is that kind of film, as the potential for more is evident, but you can almost see why the Coen brothers left this to one side, and Clooney's involvement adds very little.

VERDICT: The sound (and sight) of George Clooney covering the Coen brothers and missing the high notes, Suburbicon is a film you would rightly expect so much more of – but you don't get it. Clooney's direction mines the likes of Hitchcock, Wilder and Stirk, but his efforts at injecting social relevance are misguided and ultimately defunct. There is a sharper noir, and a civil rights film, to be made from Suburbicon, but patched together, it makes for a disappointing effort. Poor.

SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: The Man Who Wasn't There (2001), Double Indemnity (1944). *See The GEM's website on Friday for Gareth's take on Battle of the Sexes.

One lucky school wins all categories of Mayor's Christmas card competition

Winner Amy Quance.

MANY schools throughout the Vale entered and standards were, said a spokesperson, “extremely high”.

Remarkably, however, all three winners were chosen from the same school: Y Bont Faen Primary.

The winners were Amy Quance from year-6, Harry Williams from nursery and Emily Wallis from reception.

These winning designs will be printed, and sent as digital Christmas cards, from the MD of the Vale of Glamorgan Council, Rob Thomas and Leader of the Vale Council Cllr John Thomas, all over the UK and Europe.

Highly commended entries came from Dylan Bail-Braunton, Peter Coe, Katie Gardener, Lottie Smale, Seren Morgan and Oscar Birrane.

Second place Harry Williams.

VALE GUNDOG TRAINER IN SWEDISH TUTORIAL

Mike Larkin (far right) is shown at the award presentation to the winner of the Swedish competition.

MIKE LARKIN, a Gundog trainer and judge who lives in the Vale, has returned after holding a seminar in Sweden last weekend.

Mr Larkin said: “It was a trial and judging seminar to show the Swedes how to judge in the British way.

“We were invited over by the Swedish Gundog Society. The society is keen to catch up with how we run events in Britain and make sure they are running theirs correctly.”

Fellow Welsh judge, Roger Tozer from Cwmbran, also made the trip.

Mike recently handed on his expertise to Gundog enthusiasts in the Czech Republic. Next March, he will be going to Switzerland, and he's off to Germany in July and September.

Valeways guided walks

ON Sunday, December 3 at 10.30am meet at the entrance of Tesco, Porth Road in Barry for ‘Church and Huge Christmas Wreath’.

On Wednesday, December 6 the Coffee Shop Strollers Cosmeston meet at 10.30am outside the Cosmeston visitor centre. Meet at 2.30pm the same day in Llantwit Major in the town hall car park, for a walk with the Coffee Shop Strollers there.

On Thursday, December 7 the Secondary Breast Cancer Strollers meet at 10.30am at the information centre at Cosmeston.

NSPCC trip cancelled

THE NSPCC trip to the Bath Christmas market due to take place on Sunday, December 3, has been cancelled.

For refunds, contact Ewa Thomas on 01446 771728.

BARRY Yacht Club started off the festive season with a ‘bang’ when its annual Christmas fayre took place.

Organiser Lis Frearson had ensured that gifts galore were there to be had for discerning buyers: from bespoke jewellery to beautiful hand-made crafts and not forgetting the wonderful Christmas cake stall, RNLI Christmas cards and Scout Post stamps.

On the first day of Christmas, we had BYC member Karen Donkin selling wares at the entrance to the Christmas fayre. Club members Joan and Clive Powell displayed many stunning photographs they have taken this year as BYC's official photographers.

On the second day of Christmas, we had jewellery to rival Bond Street, London.

On the third day of Christmas, we had festive gifts, from festive jam jar covers to personalised Christmas cards, traditional bunting to photograph frames.

On the fourth day of Christmas, we had a stall full of beautiful local oil paintings, watercolours and sketches of the natural Barry habitat. One particular sketch was of a rather cheeky looking rabbit – many people have forgotten that prior to the Island becoming a seaside resort, there was a large colony of rabbits on Barry Island.

On the fifth day of Christmas, we had beautiful linen teddy bears, hand embroidered with tiny flowers of every description in a rainbow of colours. If anyone was looking for a family heirloom to pass down through the generations, then this was the stall to head for. Indeed, there were other treasures to be found there with stunning hand-painted silk scarves in an array of colours.

On the sixth day of Christmas, it was time to sit down and have a cup of tea or coffee in the gallery.

On the seventh day of Christmas, it was time to have a catch up with old friends and fellow members.

On the eighth day of Christmas, it was back into the fayre to discover more Christmas treasures for family and friends and the temptation proved to be too great for most of us.

On the ninth day of Christmas, we were enchanted by a table of Christmas tea lights in beautifully painted glass Christmas candle holders together, with the cutest little bird's nest boxes you will ever see – complete with a miniature seagull on the top!

On the tenth day of Christmas, the sun had started to set on what had been a truly wonderful Christmas fayre on a beautiful crisp early winter's day.

On the eleventh day of Christmas, we started to pack up the stalls for another year and the gallery poured its final cups of tea.

On the twelfth day of Christmas, it was time to say a very big ‘thank you’ to all the traders who had set up stalls at Barry Yacht Club and to the members who contributed to the day's success.

Taking care of Christmas at Sublime Hair and Beauty are (left to right): Naomi, Tyler, Vanessa and Ceri.

Local businesses stand the test of time in Rhoose

RHOOSE is one place in the Vale that is hard to categorise.

Its population has increased over the last 10 years, and it spreads out over quite an area now – way too big to be a village.

But, it hasn't yet been reclassified as a town, even though its population passed that of Cowbridge 20 years ago, and it is now more than 50 per cent bigger than the Vale's market town.

Indeed, at the 2000 census, Rhoose was just over half the size of Llantwit Major, but by 2016, it was up to 75 per cent (6,230 against 8,552).

The town's shopping area is concentrated along its main road, either side of the primary school and, with its proximity to the Heritage Coast, it is a popular holiday area.

It seems to be the case that businesses who open in Rhoose seem to stay open, quickly establishing a regular clientele and giving the business owners a chance to grow steadily and in a sustainable way.

Typical of this is Sublime Hair and Beauty, where owner Vanessa has been in business for six-and-a-half years. Before that she was in St Athan for 23 years, so she knows the business inside out.

Vanessa, Tyler and Ceri are the hairdressers, while Naomi is a beautician and, with the festive season in mind, they will be opening late on Fridays and early on Saturdays in the run up to Christmas.

Also, during December, out of hours appointments can be arranged too.

Sublime Hair and Beauty will be delighted to welcome customers, old and new, as we approach Christmas.

Another business

where the owners have been settled in Rhoose for some time is The Fontygary Inn, where Kerry and Kevin Eade recently celebrated their 10th year in the premises.

That's quite an achievement these days in the pub trade, but Kevin puts that down to developing a great relationship with the community.

The pub gets much valued trade from the nearby holiday parks, but locals matter to any local pub.

Kevin said: "We've always had great support from the community. It's really good to see locals bringing friends along, and then seeing those friends come back! This year, we are offering a big Christmas welcome to all our customers."

It's a pub that is licensed 365 days a year, and one regular festive spot that has become popular is the Boxing Day Race Night.

They do breakfasts, lunchtime offers, and evening offers such as two sirloin 8oz steaks for £14.95 (Monday to Thursday). It's a pub that listens to what customers want, and goes out of its way to provide it.

Back in the main shopping area, Glenys Watson runs Coffee Time, open 9am to 4pm, Monday to Friday, giving locals a little haven to stop and have a tea, coffee or snack.

It's time for her to have her Turkey baguettes ready once again (always a big hit at this time of year) and she also has a wide range of speciality lattes, spiced and enticing with Christmassy flavours.

Good value home-made food is her trademark, and Coffee Time has become a Rhoose fixture as a result.

Glenys said: "I would like to thank all my customers for their business over the year, and wish them all a happy time this Christmas."

Not every business in Rhoose is on the main thoroughfare. Head off along Rhoose Road towards the airport and you will find 'Passport to Play' – another long-established local business.

The nursery has been running for 10 years now, ever since Rose and Rebecca (a mother and daughter team) opened it.

Passport to Play takes children from six weeks to 11 years, and has grown to the point where they employ 18 staff.

It's another example of a local business that has grown as a result of providing a good, consistent and reliable service for the people of Rhoose.

RHOOSE for a Cosy Village Christmas

Rhoose community is ready for Christmas

There's a warm welcome at Deano's Barbers.

Kerry and Kevin are celebrating 10 years at the Fontygary Inn (above).

Just outside Rhoose is the hamlet of Penmark, where you will find The Six Bells, which has developed an outstanding reputation in recent years thanks to the efforts of the owners Mark and James.

People love a traditional Welsh pub and at Christmas, with its cosy, friendly atmosphere, it ticks all the boxes.

The high quality of its dining is recognised not just in the Vale, but further afield in Cardiff and Bridgend.

On Facebook, one fan from across the Severn, Elaine, commented: "I've had many meals there. I come from Kent to see family and always visit the Six Bells for a meal. We had a party there for my niece. The staff are great as well."

Another customer Nick added: "It's one of the friendliest pubs I've been in - ever!"

To book a meal in the day or evening call 01446 710229.

The Six Bells is an ideal, relaxing venue for office lunches too and has ample car parking. If you would like a menu sent to your business, just email mail@sixbellspenmark.co.uk

Returning to Rhoose, another established business is Posh Pawz, run by Kath and Jo, who have been in town for over five years.

Christmas is the busiest time of the year, with owners smartening up their dogs before taking them to family gatherings.

It is in fact their sixth Christmas here, so they know what to expect and, as well as offering their skills at smartening up the scruffiest pooch, they have stocked up for the season too, with accessories, treats, and even doggie Christmas jumpers.

To make sure that you can smarten up your dog close to the big day, they will be staying open until December 23, before taking a break until January 3.

Just down the road from Posh Pawz is Deano's Barbers - yet another long-established business, making its way by providing good service and a warm welcome.

Deano told The GEM: "We have two barbers who are kept busy, and I would like to thank all our existing customers for their business."

"It will be a pleasure to see any customers new to the area who would like to call in."

Yet another pub/restaurant that has stayed in the same hands is The Highway, at Nurston, just outside Rhoose. The owner, Derek Gaynor, said: "This has been our best year ever."

"It has been busy and in the run up to Christmas, I would strongly recommend that people should book ahead - it's not essential but definitely advisable."

"Recently, our 'scores on the door' went up from four to five, and we have extended our great value over-60s menu until 5pm."

"We changed the menu a bit over the summer and, combined with the local airport carrying more passengers, we are definitely seeing a spin off."

Kath and Jo will pamper your pooch at Posh Pawz.

The Highwayman, of course, also runs an airport parking service from a site next door, so the prospects are good.

Prospects, it has to be said, are good for the community of Rhoose too, with its perfect location on the Heritage Coast, and local businesses that know the value of good service.

There's never a bad time to visit Rhoose, and traders are looking forward to another good year.

A BUMPER CHRISTMAS IS AHEAD FOR RHOOSE

RHOOSE is already in the Christmas mood, with Rhoose Christmas Market planned for Saturday, December 2 at the Rhoose Community Hall on Stewart Road, with Rhoose Community Library Christmas Fair on December 6 and Rhoose Community Cinema on December 16.

The details for Rhoose Christmas Market on December 2 which include the Christmas tree and winter scene lights are as follows:

12pm - 4.30pm: Christmas market open.

1pm - 4pm: Santa visiting for the children, £3 each.

4.30pm - 5pm: Vale of Glamorgan Brass Band

5.30pm - 6pm: The Scoundrels.

6.30pm - 7pm Tenovus Choir.

7pm: Christmas tree and winter scene lights turn on. There will also be a bar, mince pies and mulled wine.

On Saturday, December 9, Rhoose

Community Library will be holding its first-ever Christmas Fair from 1pm to 4pm. There will be refreshments, children's activities, Christmas gift/decoration stalls as well as book/toys/puzzles stall. There will also be a chocolate tombola and a craft stall.

There will be a Christmas raffle draw with a prize luxury Christmas hamper as first prize, a Christmas cake for the second prize and a third prize of a bottle of wine.

On Saturday, December 16, Rhoose Community Cinema presents Love Actually (15). Showtime is 7.15pm. All tickets £5 (includes a mince pie).

Sunday, December 17, Elf (PG). Doors open at 1.45pm, showtime 2.15pm.

All tickets are £3.50 and it includes a visit and gift from Santa for every child.

'Aston Martin fears are groundless'

ASTON Martin's claim that the entire British car industry may halt production if there is a 'no deal' Brexit is utter nonsense

The recent claim by Aston Martin's chief financial officer Mark Wilson that the company may be forced to halt production in the case of a 'no-deal' Brexit is nonsense.

Mr Wilson claims that because all new cars in the UK must have Vehicle Certification Agency (VCA) approval, the company may be forced to halt production in March 2019 if an agreement is not made.

Of course, this would not only apply to Aston Martin, but to every company in the UK that produces cars. Is he really suggesting that all car production in the UK will halt in March 2019 in the case of a 'no-deal' Brexit?

Mr Wilson played down fears of a Brexit car industry cataclysm in the next paragraph of his statement: "We suppose there will be a transitional arrangement. During that transition we would have to look to see how Aston Martin could recertify under a non-VCA approval structure."

It is preposterous to suggest that the entire British car industry will close down just because of the change of a logo on a certification form.

Aston Martin sells approximately 600 cars a year to the EU, while German car manufacturers alone export 820,000 cars to the United Kingdom, accounting for 14 per cent of all German car production.

If anything, such a freeze would provide an enormous opportunity for domestic car production in the UK, but either way, these fears are the stuff of fantasy.

Kris Hicks, (Head of Communications UKIP Wales).

Where were MPs during the EU legislation introduction?

MPS are demanding the power to vote on any Brexit deal, and it seems that some at least see it as a way to stop Brexit altogether.

This is at the very least paradoxical: they are demanding the power to reject being given more power; they are demanding the power to be overruled by the EU.

By rejecting the insertion of a leave date into legislation and thus leaving open possible prolonged negotiation, they reject a "take it or leave" it vote at the end of it all – yet they have been quite content to accept "take it, or else" EU legislation since 1972.

The so-called Henry VIII powers would allow the Government to bypass Parliament until the transition to self government is complete. These MPs reject this, yet until now have been happily subjugated permanently to the unelected EU commission and European Court of Justice without being consulted at all.

In any case, where were these MPs and their predecessors when Geoffrey Howe introduced 13,000 pages of EU legislation into British law and all further EU legislation by statutory instrument, which meant that there was no discussion about it whatsoever?

Tony Benn described this as "A coup d'état by a political class who did not believe in popular sovereignty".

At least all this is a welcome change from the era when there was consensus on the EU. Let us hope that we in the UK get a system where our politicians really are accountable to the electorate.

It is perhaps understandable that European countries should distrust their populations, which have produced the French revolutionary Terror and Hitler to name two, but this has not been our experience since 1649.

R Bradshaw, Cowbridge.

Reinstate No90 bus for those without cars

I WISH to add my disgust at the loss of the No 90 bus. All people my age (80) miss the chance to get this bus as it helps us to get about, as most of us no longer have cars.

I miss M&S and Tesco – maybe they would put transport on for us if they were asked?

Perhaps the council should restore the service? People in Barry do not have a choice now – it's shop in Barry, or not at all.

I write on behalf of all Barry OAPs in the hope that something can be done to help us.
Mrs M Francis, Barry

'NRW assessors need to talk to each other'

FRIENDS of the Earth (Barry & Vale) objected over the lack of an assessment of the Biomass site in Barry being flooded from the sea.

Storm surge flooding under climate change of Barry's Waterfront development should be taken into account, in raised land levels etc.

In their Decision Document issued on Monday, the NRW tick-boxers changed FoE's objection to simple 'flooding', then answered "a flood plan is not required due to the location".

No detail, no study, just a bland assertion "it has been assessed" (p.140 in the Decision Document).

The housing consortium, fortunately, did not show similar contempt in selling their homes, but offered house purchasers a technical assessment that gave a flood-planning height of 9.1 metres (AOD), agreed with NRW.

It seems NRW's incinerator assessors did not bother to ask NRW's technical experts.

Such a flippant attitude to public objections needs to be over-ruled by the Welsh Minister.

Max Wallis,
Barry & Vale FoE.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT AT ALL SAINTS'

THE choral group Amici will be returning to All Saints' Church, Barry on Saturday, December 2 as the last fundraiser of 2017 for the Roof Restoration Project.

The project was launched in September 2016 to raise £231,000 for a new church roof. Amici – 'Friends' in Latin – perform small scale concerts, church services and weddings and all of the members belong to Cantamus Chamber Choir. The concert will be a selection of Christmas music, some of which will include new arrangements and new pieces. A young member of the All Saints' choir will also be singing with Amici.

Tickets at £10 adults and £5 children from 01446 745997 or on the door on the evening.

Committee members will host a Prosecco bar with mince pies during the interval. The concert will commence at 6.30pm, doors open at 5.45pm.

Community choir's Christmas concert

COME and join Barry Community Choir for a sparkling Christmas concert which will be held at Crossway Methodist Church, Barry on Sunday, December 10 at 3pm.

The choir will perform songs old and new and would love you to join in with them to sing some beloved carols.

To top this off, we are welcoming harpist Eluned Henry. Add to this a grand Christmas raffle, a programme prize and delicious festive refreshments afterwards – all for the ticket price of £7 (children under 16 are free).

Tickets are available via the choir's website and Facebook, from choir members and on the door. Call Sheila 01446 748724 or Helen 029 2053 1359 for more information or to order tickets.

We look forward to welcoming you to "Jingle all the Way" with us!

Hospice appreciates donations for remembrance event

Kay French, chef at the Marie Curie Cardiff and the Vale Hospice, with wine donations for Lights to Remember's mulled wine.

A SERVICE to help people remember someone special takes place this weekend – and organisers have thanked everyone who responded to their appeal for wine for the evening.

The Marie Curie Lights to Remember event will take place outside the charity's Bridgeman Road hospice for the first time this year, at Y Kymyn on Beach Road, Penarth.

As well as a moment of remembrance, the evening will include carol singing and entertainment, followed by mulled wine and mince pies.

Spiritual care co-ordinator, Claire Wretham, who will open the service, said: "This time of year provides a chance for reflection as the new year is in sight and the lights to remember is a service designed for families, friends and loved ones to come together and remember their lost one, to join with others who are bereaved and to celebrate all that that individual was to them."

Sara Bass, fundraising manager for Wales, thanked all those who had already donated wine to be mulled for the evening, and encouraged people to join to remember loved ones.

Jill Taylor, who volunteers at the fundraising office in Penarth, will be volunteering at the event for the second year.

"Though it can be an emotional event, it is a very rewarding one to volunteer at," she said.

"For a lot of people, it's nice for them to be able to remember their loved one, and have someone to talk to about their memories."

As well as wine, cups have been donated to the hospice for the evening from Waterloo Tea, Crazy Café and Coffee One in Penarth.

Any other Christmas donations of drinks or Christmas treats for the wards can also be sent to the fundraising office at the hospice.

The evening begins at 6pm on Sunday, December 3.

GVS toolkit now available for groups

GLAMORGAN Voluntary Services (GVS) is pleased to announce that its Third Sector Consortium Toolkit is now available.

It contains useful information for individuals or groups who are thinking of working together in a consortium.

The toolkit contains top 10 tips for creating and working in a consortium, information on the barriers to consortium working and how to overcome them, guidance on consortium working with large funders and support with tendering for goods and services.

The toolkit has been produced following a successful, three-year, consortium development project managed by GVS and funded by the Vale Council's Voluntary Action Scheme.

Over 160 meetings were attended by GVS's consortium development officer, 12 consortia were developed, three attracted funding and another is working well as a partnership.

The funding received represents a seven-fold return on the Council's initial grant investment.

One full-time and six part-time posts have been created and over 40 organisations have worked together on projects and developed valuable contacts and knowledge and understanding of each other's work.

The toolkit can be downloaded free from: www.gvs.wales/news/2017/10/toolkit

Autism Awareness Month: make changes happen

IWOULD like to share my thoughts with you about autism. True evolution, in my view, is a marriage between the autistic and the norm.

A full endorsement of this philosophy should be adopted by society in Wales.

Hopefully, things will change: an autism bill will be passed and the provision will improve.

November is Autism Awareness Month and is an opportunity to contemplate the rights that people with autism deserve.

We must make these changes happen.

ALL SAINTS CINEMA CLUB IN PENARTH

THE next screening by the All Saints Cinema Club will be on Thursday, December 7, at All Saints Church Hall, Victoria Square, Penarth. The film will be White Christmas, starring Bing Crosby, the famous Christmas must-see film.

Doors open 7pm, ticket £7.50 to include glass of wine/soft drink on arrival and seasonal refreshments in the interval. Tickets are available from Jane McLaughlin on 02920 708088. Seats are limited, so don't delay and reserve your place today!

WI craft 'spectacular' at Margam Orangery

ON November 18, Margam Orangery at Margam Park Port Talbot provided the magnificent backdrop for a Craft Spectacular hosted by Glamorgan Federation of Women's Institutes.

This event is held every two years and provides members from all over the federation with an opportunity to display and offer a wonderful array of hand made craft items.

Visitors were able to start their Christmas shopping by browsing through the 24 stalls selling stunning silk scarves, beautiful jewelry, delightful decorated boxes, unusual tree decorations and much, much more. Up-cycled items also featured this year with one of the federation's members showing what exciting things can be done to breathe new life into all sorts of unwanted and unloved objects!

Refreshments were provided in the dining room by the Orangery staff, and after an exhausting morning's shopping, ladies were able to relax and catch up with friends from other areas and institutes. A lovely way to start the festive season!

FOR the 11 walkers who joined Joy in the car park at Castell Coch, what should have been a walk up over Garth Hill with great views, turned into a rather soggy mess.

Heading along pavements down through Tongwynlais in light rain below the A470 led them to the bank of the River Taff, before a footbridge with its misty views back to the castle brought them to Gelynis farmhouse, crossing the railway line and up into a deserted Morgantown.

Following a pretty autumnal path beside the busy M4 to Pant Tawel Lane and a narrow pathway through woodland, a climb up through soaking wet fields meant a stop for morning break where the expected views were hidden by misty rain.

More fields brought them towards Pentrych, where a descent on a slippery path led into a valley with more boggy meadows before the gradual climb up onto Garth Hill and into heavier rainfall and wind.

Descending past sheep and sturdy Welsh Black cattle, they paddled across a stream into part of Coed y Gedrys where the rain stopped, allowed them a quick lunch break as the temperature fell.

Making their way out of the wood and dropping steeply through Gwaelod-y-garth to re-cross the River Taff, the railway line and the A470 into Taff's Well, they climbed up the other side of the valley through Coed Ty-Rhiw.

Joining part of the Taff Trail for the final push uphill through the beautiful Fforest Fawr, they were engulfed by more rain prior to the descent on leaf-strewn pathways back to the castle.

Robin and his spaniel Pepper enjoyed much better weather the following day on their excursion up to Goodrich in Herefordshire where they were also joined by 11 walkers.

Setting off to Keme Bridge, the sun soon broke through the clouds lighting up the neat ploughed meadows and the colourful trees lining the peaceful River Wye.

Skidding along some muddy pathways in Thomas Wood, morning break on the riverbank meant a surprise from John R who shared his delicious home baked orange and lemon cake.

Continuing through Courtfield Estate land while overlooking three paddle boarders making their way downstream, the group arrived at Welsh Bicknor with its YMCA and lovely restored St Margaret's Church.

Pretty autumnal views in Park Wood led them back out onto the wide riverbank for lunch in warm sunshine, when outer coats were disposed of for the rest of the day.

Several of the group witnessed a sudden flash of blue from a kingfisher as they continued along the river gazing up at the look-out point high above them at Yat Rock, and reaching Rocklands Farm, a chance to pet a friendly Shetland pony and a Gloucester Old Spot boar with rather fierce looking tusks.

A short piece of road-walking led to their only climb of the day with the reward of stunning views to St Giles Church before the return to Goodrich for refreshments in the café for some, while others enjoyed a quick tour around the red sandstone castle ruins before the journey home.

'Tapathon' for Children In Need

ON November 19, the Anthea M King School of Dancing took part in the Tapathon 2017 for Children in Need, organised by the Performers Project.

£750 was raised by the dancing school and had 70 students and teachers all tapping at the same time, all synchronized with other tappers in different venues all over the country hoping to break the world record while raising money for Children in Need.

It will be a few weeks before it is known if the world record has been broken but raising money for such a worthwhile cause, being together from ages four upwards, and doing what we all love and enjoying the friendship, chatter and laughter with food and drink afterwards made it all worthwhile.

PART 7 - SCAVENGERS AND THE INSPECTOR OF NUISANCES 1889-95

Local historian Laurie Owen continues his series, looking at the how Barry grew so rapidly between the years 1880 and 1905.

THOUSANDS of new workers arriving from 1884 to work on the docks and railway led to major problems of human waste disposal.

Prior to that time villagers had used existing cesspools, which could not possibly cope with this new influx of people. The docks' contractor TA Walker soon built a sewer system in East Barry for his workers and the Holton sewer, built by the Wenvoe Castle Estate, dealt with the early needs of that area.

However, with the Local Board not being established until July 1888 it would then be another three years before a proper drainage and sewerage system could be opened in Cadoxton.

In the meantime 'scavengers' were employed to tour the streets and back lanes three times a week with a horse and open cart, emptying human waste from 'soil pans' in closets and from cesspools.

While most residents were pleased that they no longer had to empty their own waste, there was some objection to the times of collection. It was reported that the scavenger cart was seen in Main Street at 9.30pm and people who were still out and about resented witnessing the sight and smells. Board members agreed that work should not start until 10.30pm at the earliest.

In December 1889, a scavenger was dumping sewage on fields at Weston Farm and with no designated disposal sites, brooks and fields were often the favoured spots for offloading their disgusting cargo. This could then lead to diseases like typhoid and cholera, but was also very unpleasant for residents to witness on a daily basis.

Scavenger William Osborne was forced to admit to the Health Committee that his men had emptied 'night soil' into the brook near the Old Court, below which Gladstone Road would later be constructed. While being given a caution, he complained that many back doors were fastened, preventing them from clearing the soil pans.

As a further illustration of the chaos which authorities were struggling to control, in January 1890 an unnamed scavenger emptied 100 gallons of liquid filth from a cesspool into a yard, which then ran down the road. That same month, an indignant ratepayer accused them of being objectionable at night with their 'abhorrent yells and disgusting epithets'. Often damaging property or leaving filthy trails of effluent, at times they might neglect their duty for two or three weeks. His hope was for some improvement, now that a new role of Special Sanitary Inspector was due to be filled.

Early on the Board ordered two tumbler carts for £48 and a 'water wagon' holding 225 gallons, costing £38.10s. The former were used to empty cesspools and the latter watered the streets to dampen down the dust, but could also be used to supply drinking water on special occasions.

In April 1890, in spite of his earlier transgressions, William Osborne was awarded the contract to scavenge the whole town three times a week for £44 a month.

Although scavenging was very unpleasant and the subject of constant criticism from residents and Board Members alike, there was no shortage of men eager to secure the work. In the summer of 1891 the Finance Committee decided to split the district into three and change to daily collections.

Seven tenders were received for Cadoxton and although 155 complaints had been received in just one month about scavengers Messrs Gray & Amos, their £18 a month quote was still accepted as it was the cheapest. Out of six tenders for Barry Dock, that of £20 by William Osborne was accepted and Charles Eyles' quote of £5 at East Barry was the cheapest of 11 submitted.

William Osborne was most likely a haulier and greengrocer at Vere Street, hopefully with several different carts. Samuel Amos was a haulier-employer living at 27 Forster Street and his wife Bertha was a lodging house keeper with 12 lodgers. Charles Eyles was a haulier-employer living at 27 Evans Street with his wife Sarah.

Continuous complaints led to a high turnover of men, but with no stipulated depots to dump the waste, it was bound to lead to what could apply be called 'fly-tipping'.

Other names of scavengers which some readers may recognise were: William Herne of Barry Road, William Irwin of Garden Cottage, William Jones of Treham Road, David and Thomas Paulett, Jenkin Brock of Rose Cottage, Cadoxton and Thomas Ruckley.

David Paulett would later become a coal merchant and furniture remover with offices at the Station Yard and Cadoxton Market Mews. Jenkin Brock came from a well-known Cadoxton family and was a gamekeeper before becoming a road contractor/employer.

With the opening of both sewage works by 1894, the unpleasant aspect of scavengers' work gradually decreased. Household refuse would still be collected, with duties including sweeping and scraping the streets, but even then they could still provoke complaints by leaving the scrapings piled outside houses. By now employed by the Council, in 1895 it was even being discussed that they should be given seven days' annual holiday.

With so many complaints being made by irate residents, an official was desperately needed to supervise the scavengers and deal with the reports of malpractice.

Joseph Charles Pardoe AMICE was appointed Surveyor to the first Local Board in July 1888 and initially agreed to combine this position with the role of Inspector of Nuisances. However, such was the rapid growth of the town, it soon became necessary to create two separate positions and in October 1889, JC Pardoe was reappointed Surveyor with a salary of £150pa.

'Nuisances' had mainly concerned human waste and scavenging, so when a drain burst in Fairford Street causing a fearful stench that was deemed a nuisance needing urgent action. Some people would urinate outside theatres while others would block lanes; and even the influential Dr O'Donnell was accused of turning newly-improved Robins Lane into a farmyard, with manure from his horses. This last seemingly innocent 'nuisance' would escalate to a full-blown slander case in court.

Early in 1890 on a salary of £100pa George Lightfoot, a 32 year old from Middlesborough, was appointed Inspector of Nuisances/Sanitary Inspector, with duties to now include boarding and inspecting vessels at the Docks.

In May he seized a cwt of meat from a local butcher which was unfit for human consumption and had to be cremated at the gasworks.

A story of attempted bribery appeared in October, when a grocer from out of town with a new shop in Vere Street sent George 10/- to encourage him to give special attention to his drains.

His first contact with William Osborne was to complain that his scavenging in East Barry and Cadoxton was not acceptable. Anywhere a health risk may be present would be on his schedule, including vessels, lodging houses, private homes with infections, bakers, fishmongers, dairies, cow sheds and all their utensils.

Just two months later at a meeting of the Health Committee, Dr Neale MOH recommended buying an 'asphyxiator' for disinfecting purposes. The Inspector was despatched to Bristol to check out a possible deal, with only half his travel costs paid and even more bizarrely, he was to go in his Christmas holidays.

He later recommended a 'Grahtrix' drain tester, the best and cheapest at £6 and a 'Nelson' disinfectant for £40. Both were approved. After this indignity and subsequent good work, when George asked for extra horses for the scavengers, he was refused.

In May 1891, together with Dr Neale, George boarded a vessel on which three crew members had died of yellow fever just days earlier. After safely disinfecting the ship, he would surely have questioned his reasons for being in such employment for £2 per week and it may explain why he left the following month to be the Surveyor of Blaenavon Local Board.

Alfred Edgar Leyshon was unanimously elected Inspector of Nuisances on a salary of £105pa and the following month was appointed under the Food and Drugs Act and Diseased Animals Act. An assistant at Cardiff, he was chosen from a list of 20 applicants.

With the Cadoxton sewer system operational, he reported in September that there were 46 nuisances in Cadoxton out of 181 houses inspected, Gray & Amos had failed to empty soil pans, but Mr Ruckley was done well.

Dr Neale felt it was important for the Inspector to have a uniform, which would identify him as someone of authority and not to be mistaken for a 'runner' or bailiff. The £9.12s cost for two uniforms was hotly debated by Oliver Jenkins, especially if he did not wear them.

At a Local Board meeting in December 1894, the Inspector gave a detailed report of the work involved in safeguarding the health of the community.

Highlights of the six year period included 3,002 notices issued on nuisances which included 213 on animals, 826 on foul accumulations and 1,097 on cesspools, drains and foul closets which needed cleansing. 6,875 houses were inspected with 448 needing disinfecting and hundreds of shops, lodging houses, workshops and the temporary slaughterhouse off Court Road. 3,640 vessels for the Port Authority had been inspected, with 237 being defective.

All of the above explained why the sanitary conditions and health of the public were so satisfactory.

Progress was being made and throughout 1895 he was able to report a clean bill of health for small businesses. However, some residents were still not complying with flushing of water closets and infected houses featured regularly as nuisances.

At a meeting of the South Wales and Monmouth Sanitary Inspectors in 1898, the president was pleased to say that Barry was now a wonderful town with first class sanitation thanks to its officials.

In May 1899 after eight years, AE Leyshon left Barry for the Forest of Dean and was greatly missed by all concerned.

A look at Wenvoe – MORE THAN 100 YEARS AGO

A LOCAL historian, Brian Keitch of Penarth, recently discovered a number of fascinating old photographs of the area – taken by a relative more than 100 years ago!

Brian explained: "Over 100 years ago, my great grandfather, John Lewis, lived in the Penarth area and was a very keen photographer."

"A collection of the glass plates he took circa 1905 to 1910 have come down to us and provide a glimpse of what interested him all that time ago."

"The subject matter covers a number of locations in the Vale, in particular Barry, Penarth, Wenvoe and Llantwit Major."

This week's should interest Wenvoe residents, as it shows

Wenvoe Post Office.

The postmistress – it seems likely – is chatting (or giving instructions) to a 'local' boy, whose pushbike is up against the wall.

At the time Wenvoe boasted an impressive country railway station on the Barry Railway 'main line' from Trehafod to Barry.

The passenger numbers were not so impressive though, with rarely more than three trains a day stopping in each direction, plus a few week-end excursions during the summer months.

The last day of passenger services was

September 10, 1962, by which time there was only one stopping train in each direction – to Pontypridd at 7.45 am and to Barry at 9.16 am.

The station is still in situ. In its heyday there were refuge sidings, a goods depot and a branch to nearby Alps Quarry.

Dyddiad 30 Tachwedd 2017

Looking back to 1989 with Brian Lee

NEWSPAPER and magazine cuttings from my many scrapbooks of press cuttings reveal how the Vale's Evan Williams has become a leading National Hunt trainer.

Having had the pleasure and honour of reporting on the Welsh horse racing scene for more than half-a-century they go back not only to the time of Evan riding his first point-to-point winner but to the time his late father Rhys and mother Mary were riding winners between-the-flags.

The first time Evan was probably mentioned in the press was when, under the heading 'A First For Evan', I revealed in the Wales On Sunday, dated March 26, 1989, that: "Evan Williams of Llanfarcarn notched up his first winner in only his second ride in the first division of the restricted open at the Llangibby Hunt point-to-point steeplechases on his father's 10-year-old Cuckoo Mill."

Since then I have reported upon and written many, many race reports and articles about Evan's many successes as a rider and a trainer and now I am filing reports on the success of his amateur rider daughter Isabel.

Another Cowbridge rider who was making the news in 1989 was the then 42-year-old John Llewellyn, who, at the Brecon Hunt Steeplechases, chalked-up his 200th winner on Keith Huntley's Remember Dewy and it was at this meeting that Llewellyn rode his first four-timer.

There were 10 races on the card - I doubt if we will ever see a 10 race card ever again - and Rudy's

Tim Jones took the first two of them when winning the members' race on Lynwood Lad and the adjacent on Ratochhu.

Division two of the adjacent was won by Andrew James aboard Dashedlong. The men's open division one was won by Llewellyn on Solid Oak and division two of the race went to St Athan's John Thomas, who won on 14-1 chance Castle Shepherd Lad.

The odds-on favourite Gold Tycoon won the ladies' open race and the first division of the restricted went to the Vale's Kevin Cousins.

John Llewellyn took the second division on Goose Green and division three was won by Bowling Chance. There were two divisions of the maiden and Llewellyn took the first on Remember Dewy which gave him his 200th success and he ended the day by winning the second division on 6-1 chance L C Monro.

Another rider making headlines in 1989 was the Vale's Jonathan Tudor, who, after winning a hunter chase at Ludlow on St Helen's Boy on the Friday, was back in the winner's enclosure at the Monmouthshire Point-To-Point on the Saturday after landing an impressive win on Gwyn Davies' Jimsleeves.

I wrote: "In the winner's enclosure after the race, Mr Davies praised Jonathan for giving his mare a super ride. The former Cowbridge rugby player is making quite a name for himself and is enjoying his best season since he notched-up his first winner six years ago."

Welsh champion Tim Jones and Abergavenny farrier Andrew James both landed doubles but the best performance of the day came in the members' race when 32-year-old Robert Harris, of Hereford, managed to get back in the saddle and win the race after his mount Creeping Jane had made a dreadful blunder when leading at the third last fence.

The large crowd had 38 bookmakers in attendance to choose from and racecards were soon sold out.

Due to the large entry, both men's open and the maiden were divided on the field and with nine races to be decided racegoers didn't leave the course until 6.45pm. Thirty-eight bookmakers. We are lucky if we get eight bookies at a Welsh point-to-point these days.

There was a 10 race card at the 50th anniversary Curre Hunt Steeplechases at Howick near Chepstow and Tim Jones celebrated by riding his 50th winner with a double on Sweet Patrick (members' race) and Sweet Rascal (men's open division 2).

To celebrate their 50th anniversary the hunt staged an old fashioned point-to-point over natural countryside and this was won by Alison Wigley on the 5-2 favourite The Gambler.

Unfortunately for Llewellyn he came away from the meeting with a black eye after a loose horse collided with his mount Mr Moneybags in the adjacent hunts' race won by Joe Price on Wonder Willett.

YMCA Barry lords of the rings set the bar high

YMCA Barry has had even more success in the male gymnastics section at national level, with three gymnasts representing Wales during November.

With determination and hard work nine-year-old Charlie Watkins, competed in the Welsh Regional Round of Elite Grade One.

This is the first elite grade in men's artistic gymnastics which is designed to start young gymnasts on the development path towards elite senior gymnastics as they get older.

Due to Charlie's performance in the competition, he qualified to represent Wales at the Men's Artistic British Elite Grade Final.

Charlie and the rest of the Elite Grade One Welsh Team travelled to compete in Birmingham against the best nine year olds in the country.

Under pressure, representing his country for the first time, Charlie executed his routines demonstrating what a mature and skilled gymnast he is.

In particular, Charlie gained two top-10 placings on high bar and vault which is an achievement in such a competitive field. To everybody's delight, Charlie and Team Wales scored excellently throughout the competition and in the team event, Wales claimed the silver medal. A big well done to Charlie and the rest of the Welsh team.

YMCA Barry has also got two senior male gymnasts on the long list for the 2018 Commonwealth Games, Iwan Mephram and Josh Cook.

Throughout the year, Iwan and Josh have both undergone many trials to see if they can gain the necessary scores to be taken as part of Team Wales to the Commonwealth Games which take place next year in Australia.

Their last trial took place last weekend in Scotland for the Home Nations Championships. Both Iwan and Josh showed the selectors that they deserve a place in the team. Individually, Josh received fourth on pommel horse, second on rings, fourth on vault, fourth on parallel bars, second on high bar and became the floor champion.

As Josh is an all-around gymnast who competes on all six pieces of apparatus, his scores were combined and he took second in the all-around event.

At just 17 years old, Josh is making a big impression on the senior stage.

Iwan also impressed with claiming second on rings, and became champion on parallel bars and high bar.

A very impressive set of results, where a YMCA Barry gymnast won three out of the six apparatus finals.

Iwan, Josh and the rest of the Welsh team also become the team champions. An excellent couple of weeks for men's artistic in YMCA Barry.

Josh and Iwan have done all they can leading up to the Commonwealth Games selection where everyone will now wait nervously to see which gymnasts will be travelling to Australia next year.

YMCA Barry offers gymnastics classes to all ages and abilities, from toddlers to elite level gymnastics for males and females.

In the new year, YMCA Barry will expand its timetable to increase classes for preschool, recreational, 'cheerleading', teen and adult gymnastics as well as adult fitness classes.

Vale of Glamorgan Pool League news

THE much-anticipated top of the table clash between the Vale Aspru Barbers league leaders Billy United against second place Castle Dark Lords certainly lived up to it's top billing.

The Billy side started all guns blazing racing into a 4-0 lead with wins from the Roberts brothers Gary and Ian, John Farrugia and Mark Ingram.

The Dark Lords would fight back and win the first session of doubles through Gareth Foxall and Sean Kelly followed by Wayne Hobson and Matthew Tobin.

The Castle's Tobin would then win his next singles match, beating one of the leagues most accomplished players, Gary Roberts.

John Farrugia would then do the double over Gavin Rowlands to make the score 5-3 to the Billy. Back came the Dark Lords with Brian Harris and Wayne Hobson both winning 5-5.

The last set of doubles would see Ashton and Ingram make it 6-5 to the Billy, then came a touch of magic from Matthew Tobin who would break off and clear up all in one visit to leave a sudden death black ball shoot out, with Gary Roberts holding his nerve to nail his black for a much-deserved bonus point win for the Billy.

Overall a great game and a good advert for the league.

Over at the Witchill the Wildcats would take advantage of the top two playing each other and fielded their strongest team this season with Barry's number one pool player Chris Bardsley leading the destruction of the Ship.

The Wildcats would take no chances and played the same lineup in both sessions of singles with Ian Hill, Ceri Morris and James Hill joining Bardsley in a format that would see them win seven out of the eight frames they played, with only Mike Egan getting the better of James Hill.

This was an outstanding performance by the Witchill and they thoroughly deserved their 11-1 victory, with support from Lawrence Klee, Paul Everest and Sian Kedward, that now sees them leap from the dark lords into second place, just behind Billy United with a game in hand - the league could not be any tighter at the top.

Over at Millwood Bowls Club the Pot Jacks would entertain the young blood of the Baruc Arms - but their flamboyant potting style was just too much for the old heads of Millwood Pot Jacks, falling behind 1-3, a lead that was just too far for them to catch.

Man of the match Nick Parry would win all four of his matches in style for the Pot Jacks, to finally lose 7-5 in some close-run frames in a fun-filled evening of pool.

The Baruc Arms' star player was Gavin Stevens, also winning four out of four, with teammates Calum Petty, Kevin Turnbull and Nick Meadows also shining.

The Libs Rejects had a hard fought 7-5 victory over the Glenbrook Wanderers; the Libs stormed into a 6-1 lead before the Glenbrook fought back with singles victories from Nick Taylor, Jeff Bartle and Rhodri Thomas, before Tom Ivins and Mike Roberts ensured victory for the Libs.

Man of the match Tom Ivins stole the show with his performance, with a 100 per cent record winning all four of his matches.

The King William IV pub in Cadoxton would host O'Briens in a close-fought match that saw all frames being keenly contested.

At the halfway point the scores were level at 3-3 with Jeff Morgan and Martyn Croke impressing for O'Briens.

The second session of singles would see the king William dominate and win three out of the four frames with Neil Tipples impressing in his controlled and well-thought-out winning frame.

The standout performance came from the experienced Les Hunt in winning three out of four frames to give the Cadoxton team a deserved 7-5 win.

The draw for the League Cup will be held in the next couple of weeks and the Baruc Arms are looking for two new players to join their side - please text Joe on 07870 498738 or phone Anthony on 07568 444180.

The league would like to thank their sponsors Aspru Barbers Park Crescent, Eze Drive Driving School and R&M Mobile Valeting.

ANOTHER week, another two games for the Barry Chess Club and another two losses - we are nothing if not consistent.

In Division 1 the Bosons travelled to Cardiff to take on the Castles. The Castles seem to win the title every year although it seems likely that they may finish second this season.

They put out their strongest team with four players rated over 2000. Although we were outrated on every board, wins from Steve Cunliffe and Ken Hannah ensured it would be a close match.

We may have lost 3-2 but we seem to be avoiding the relegation fight. We have 17 points so far and are 5.5 points above the team in eighth place but the bottom three teams all have a game in hand.

In Division 2 it was the Camelots turn to play. They were at home to the Nelson Rhinos.

The game ended in a 3-2 defeat for the Camelots who now drop back into the relegation spots. The Camelots' points came from a win by John Ryles and draws from Chris Green and Tom Cooke.

The Camelots are only half a point behind their nearest rivals the Cardiff Crowns win one game to play before we reach the halfway stage in the season.

The round nine match for the Camelots could be decisive in their relegation fight as we play the Crowns at home.

However as this match is not scheduled until early December there is plenty of time to practice.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30pm each Monday at the West End Club, St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY.

The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

Two defeats for Barry chess teams shows consistency

The Vale of Glamorgan Football League round-up

A weather-decimated league schedule saw only a handful of games played.

SP Billy failed to close the gap on leaders Sully Sports as Cogan Coronation won 2-0 over SP. The result puts Cogan fourth after Tynewydd lost 2-1 to Cadoxton Athletic. Down the bottom of Division One Penarth Town B edged out Cadoxton Imps 3-2.

In Division Two, St Athan B picked up their second win of the season to defeat Vale Madrid 3-1. Llantwit Major leap frog Vale Madrid into second place as they continued their perfect record with a 5-0 hammering of BV.

In SWFA Cup action, the Vale's interest in the cup is now over as all three remaining Vale clubs crashed out. Island Marine lost out 6-2 to AFC Whitchurch, Cardiff Airport were thrashed 5-0 by Cwm Welfare, while Vale United narrowly lost out to Penrhwiweiber Cons 2-1.

A full league program returns this week with game of the day undoubtedly in the Premier Division as FC Barry Belgrade host league leaders Barry Athletic.

NO SPARE WHEEL? TYRE FOAM NOT WORKING? YOU NEED A HERO...

We now offer the RoadHero Space Saver Wheel Kit which solves a genuine problem. With wheel-wells getting smaller and manufacturers opting to save weight by only supplying cars with tyre-slime rather than any form of spare wheel, the need is great. Tyre slime is one solution, which many are happy to use, but more people demand a genuine wheel replacement to get them home safely. This is where RoadHero comes in.

SPACE SAVER WHEEL

& TYRE...
The RoadHero Kit comes with a dedicated space saver steel (or alloy) wheel option, pre-fitted with a suitable spare tyre.

EVERYTHING YOU NEED...

The kit contains everything you need in the event of a serious puncture or blowout - including a jack (scissor or bottle) & wheel brace. Original fixings can be used unless otherwise supplied.

STOWED AWAY...

Just as you would expect in the 'good old days' when cars were supplied with these kits as standard, the RoadHero tools are stowed away in the rear of the wheel.

CONVENIENT CARRY BAG...

The complete RoadHero kit is conveniently packed into a boot carry bag, meaning everything stays together, even if you can't fit it in the wheel well in your boot.

Ruby Lee impresses as Rising Sun students battle it out

THIRTEEN members of the Rising Sun Kyokushinkai Karate Club travelled up to Slough Leisure Centre to take part in this year's British Karate Championships.

The day started off with Harry Tilby placing third in the mens event, beating three opponents over six rounds of contact fighting.

Next up was the Barry team of six junior fighters, only just missing out on the win against Mountain Ash as the two Welsh teams went head to head with a 3-2 win for Mountain Ash.

In the next event, selected to fight for Wales, Ruby-Lee Bennett won both of her fights against the Ireland team and also England, gaining her a first place gold medal for the Welsh team and her first international championship first prize.

Ruby-Lee also fought tremendously well in the individual age 9-10 mixed boys and girls category, only just missing the finals by one judge's decision against her Welsh teammate.

The junior boy from Cwmbran she fought in a previous Welsh Championships not long ago, just took the win after an epic quarter final battle, but Ruby-Lee, gaining two awards, was pleased with her performance, and said: "I'm happy with the outcome and pleased with the results from the day; after six fights I achieved what I wanted, so am proud to have a gold medal and trophy."

Morgan Evans took out three opponents with class skills and scored 'Ippon' with a head kick against her third English opponent and made it to the semi-finals, only just missing out on the final place by one point, and a well-deserved third place was gained.

Lloyd Jones also made it to the semi-finals only to get fouled by his opponent with an excessive contact blow to the body that got the opponent disqualified and Lloyd was unable to continue.

Lloyd also took a bronze medal home for his courage and braveness. After getting injured, he wanted to carry on, although the doctors advised him to pull out and he took their professional advice.

Will Bennett, attempting his second national competition, also gained bronze by beating three opponents consecutively, only to just be beaten to the mark in the semi-finals by a strong English opponent who scored just a few more points.

Will held his own and stayed standing throughout the bout and was pleased with his result after his first British challenge and semi-final placing.

Fighting exceptionally well, Oscar Bennett got to the second round only to just get beaten by a well-rounded London based fighter.

Oscar is the current under-10s Welsh champion and commented that he will be back next year, and has the 2018 British Championships in his sights.

Other fighters – Kiron Kerr, Jake Tressider, Katia Hewitson, Jamie Jones, Wilson Wong And Rhys Westall – all fought considerably well only just missing out on the win at the event.

The Rising Sun Club would like to thank the coaches, Ian Nicholas, David Jenkins and Lewis Giles for the preparation towards the event.

Lee And Spencer Bennett, the club instructors, would also like to thank the parents for their support and club sponsors Wheelie Smart, Cardiff Auto Spray, Barry PC 'n' Mobiles, Bennetts Removals, Slabi Clothing, and The Baruc Arms.

If anybody is interested in training with the club, come along for a first free lesson, juniors 6.30pm-7.30pm and seniors 8pm-9pm at the Barry Island Community Centre or call Lee on 07811110368.

Ruby Lee and Oscar Bennett.

Nick makes comeback ride

FORMER Welsh champion point-to-point rider Ogmores-by-Sea's Nick Williams (32), who hung up his race riding boots at the end of the 2014/15 season, failed in his first comeback ride at the Bishops Court Racing Club's Point-To-Point at Ottery St Mary last Sunday.

Riding the well-fancied favourite Champion, he failed to complete the restricted race which was won by David Brace's Doc Cody. Brace, who also won the conditions race with his Colorado Doc, told the press: "Doc Cody's dam, Brydferth Ddu, which means 'Black Beauty', won a maiden race for us and has also bred our winning pointer Bob The Butcher."

Both winners were ridden by Bradley Gibbs.

There was another success from a horse trained in the Pyle area, where Mr Brace has his Dunraven Stud farm, when Sherree Lean's Moreece won the intermediate race under Will Biddick.

A former inmate of Tim Vaughan's Aberthaw yard, this little horse (he's only 15.2 hh) is, according to his owner, "a little dynamite".

Could readers help me to fill in the vacant years? I have a list of the Welsh champion point-to-point riders, male and female, who have won the Dillwyn and Barbara Thomas awards from 1987 to 2016, but I need to know who were the recipients before then, as Dillwyn and Barbara first put up their trophies in 1971.

You can e-mail your racing news or views to brianlee4@virginmedia.com or call 02920 736438. BRIAN LEE

Barry Town United hope to bounce back from loss in televised cup clash

SIX-TIME holders Barry Town United travel to Caernarfon Town in the pick of this week's JD Welsh Cup fixtures, with Sunday afternoon's third round clash at The Oval be broadcast live on S4C.

The meeting between the Welsh League Division One champions and Huws Grey Alliance contenders will not be the first to be played in front of the TV cameras.

20 years ago, the clubs made history by contesting the Welsh Premier League's first ever televised match, with Barry overturning an early deficit to win by five goals to two.

Two decades later, the Jenner Park crowd of 2,746 remains a Welsh Premier attendance record, with another four-figure following set to turn out this weekend.

However, most at The Oval will be there to cheer on the Canaries, who are commonly regarded as the best-supported side below the national division.

Despite playing their football at opposite ends of the country, Barry and Caernarfon are closely connected by former Hartlepool United and Torquay United striker Eifion Williams.

The Jenner Park club's record signing, Williams' goalscoring prowess in the respective yellow jerseys would eventually earn him a place in the Welsh Premier League Hall of Fame.

This weekend, Barry supporters will be hoping hometown hero Kayne McLaggon can produce more of the magic that has seen him net winners at both Bangor City and The New Saints.

This latest meeting between Barry and Caernarfon will be the first at The Oval since 2003, when the hosts were 8-0 winners over a makeshift squad, pieced together by stand-in manager Matthew Case.

Recruiting mainly from Vale of Glamorgan League outfit N and M Construction, Case and his players might have been heavily beaten that day, but they played an important role in helping the club continue, after it had been rocked by financial difficulties that summer.

It is a fitting subplot that kitman Case will form part of the matchday party this weekend, supporting manager Gavin Chesterfield and his team.

Chesterfield will have been disappointed on Saturday, after seeing his team beaten 2-1 by Huw Griffiths' Cefn Druids in matchday 15 of the JD Welsh Premier League.

In truth, there was little between the sides at The Rock, Chris Hugh's equaliser quickly cancelling out Naim Arsan's opener, before Jonathan Taylor struck with 10 minutes to play.

The result left Barry on 17 points, two ahead of the chasing pack of Newtown, Aberystwyth and Prestatyn, with Carmarthen marooned on four points at the bottom.

With big matches against Bangor and the Old Gold upcoming, a Sunday afternoon cup tie might appear decent respite, yet Caernarfon will no doubt do their utmost to ensure it is anything but.

Kick-off between Caernarfon Town and Barry Town at The Oval is at 2.45pm, with live coverage on S4C commencing at 2.30pm.

PRESENTATION NIGHT AT WENVOE CASTLE GOLF CLUB

David Donovan and David Hutchings, winners of the H Regan foursomes with club captain Kota Dayananda.

Club champion 2017 Matt Mullooly.

Heather Thompson and Barbara Beedham, winners of the White Cup foursomes with lady captain Helen Hughes (middle).

John Peters, winner of the Robert Rickards Cup.

PRESENTATION night is a special occasion at Wenvoe Castle Golf Club where members gather to congratulate the winners of a variety of club competitions.

Some competitions were settled on the day but several knock out competitions lasted over many rounds throughout the summer months and the winners had certainly earned their rewards particularly their names engraved in gold leaf on the honours boards.

There was a glittering display of silverware and club president Colin Champ showed considerable humour and stamina in announcing the winners of 40 trophies for the various men's, ladies and mixed competitions.

Ahead of the trophies there was a very special presentation to congratulate two club members who had reached a remarkable 50 years of membership.

The club president paid tribute to Jim Love and Graham Hawkes for their contribution to the club over such a long period and they were both presented with a special memento to mark the occasion.

There was an element of déjà vu for both the club champion and ladies champion with Matt Mullooly and Sheila Morrow both successfully defending their titles.

Club champion Matt Mullooly was delighted to receive his trophy from club captain Kota Dayananda and recalled the extremely tough weather conditions on the day. He particularly praised to the runner-up Wayne Adams for his determination in a match played in such excellent spirit.

Lady champion Sheila Morrow received her trophy from the lady captain Helen Hughes and similarly paid tribute to the runner-up Lynda Campbell for a great match which could have gone either way and finally resolved with sudden death and a very long putt on the first extra hole.

The club captain Kota Dayananda thanked all the members who had entered and supported the competitions and also paid tribute to the efforts of the green staff who presented the course in such fine condition throughout the year.

He also thanked the bar and catering staff for the excellent service on the evening with a special appreciation of the efforts of Julie Staples and club steward Simon Gatheridge who had diligently polished each and every trophy on display.

A full list of the competitions together with the winners is shown below:

Club championships:
Club champion Matthew Mullooly, runner-up Wayne Adams; lady champion Sheila Morrow, runner-up Lynda Campbell.

Ladies competitions:
Blod Lewis Cup - Maria Venn; M Moss Memorial Shield - Delyth Thomas; Thompson Salver - Samantha Case; Committee Cup - Sandra Hathway; Seniors Cup - Wendy Motton; White Cup Foursomes - Barbara Beedham and Heather Thompson; Mary Fellows Bowl - Barbara Beedham; Bronze Division champion - Wendy Motton; Handicap Oscar - Lynda Campbell; Coronation Cup - Lynda Campbell; Laurie Jones Shield - Lesley Arnold and Jill Rogers.

Gentlemen's competitions:

WALES 18 ALL BLACKS 33

A 30TH STRAIGHT WIN FOR NEW ZEALAND OVER WARREN GATLAND'S MEN

A very different game, but the same result... THE ALL BLACKS FIND ANOTHER WAY TO BEAT WALES

by PHILIP IRWIN

THIS writer was born in January 1953, so I am one of that rapidly-shrinking group of Welsh people who can claim that we beat the All Blacks in my lifetime.

Clearly, I don't remember it too well, but my father was there (or so he said).

Around the same time (1950) the 'Peanuts' cartoon strip began, and it had its own oval ball running joke.

Each football season, Lucy would take Charlie Brown out and offer to hold the ball – American football-style – so that Charlie could kick a goal. Then, she would pull the ball away at the last minute, leaving Charlie sprawled on the ground feeling disappointed and foolish.

Each year Charlie would find some chink of light – something that would persuade him that this year it would be different.

That just about sums up Welsh rugby's experience with New Zealand.

After all, if Welsh Charlie had been told that his team would have 65 per cent possession and 70 per cent territory, he would kicked that ball with renewed hope.

But the final score was 33-18. Five All Blacks' tries to two Welsh.

After the game, the experts were encouraging. Wales' new expansive game was developing, and the passing by the forwards had been excellent, and ball retention good.

Josh Navidi had a transformative game, one that pushed him up into a different league.

The attacking play was promising, although former Wales fly-half and TV pundit Gareth Davies squeezes in for Wales' final try.

Jonathan Davies said that the backs needed to 'fix' opponents and run less laterally. Nevertheless, there was much to build on, and important injured players to return.

Warren Gatland, speaking after the game, said that failing to close down the two All Black wingers was a big issue.

That was indisputably true. Two tries were scored by the muscular Naholo on the right, and two by the brilliant Rico Ioane on the left.

Indeed, Ioane was involved in four of the tries. He made the midfield break for Naholo's first, slipping the ball to the electric Aaron Smith, who switched the ball out right to Naholo.

In the second half, it was Ioane's break down the left that saw three Welsh defenders tackle him, giving Lennert-Brown an unopposed run in after Ioane released the ball.

His own first try will probably give Dan Biggar an uncomfortable time until the Six Nations – wondering if Warren will want to look at another outside half, while Ioane's second was just stunning – as slick a move as you could wish to see, finished with real pace and power.

However, the worrying question is, if Wales did put extra efforts into shutting down the wings, would that just open up space for outside half Beaden Barrett and full back McKenzie? They both had quiet games, but with a little extra space, who knows?

Jonathan Davies went as far as to describe Barrett as "not interested" but he was there when needed.

Early in the game he raced back to clear up after a Welsh kick ahead and, in a reprise of last week's crucial tackle on Stuart Hogg, there was a moment, after 17 minutes when Hallam Amos seemed to be in the clear, only for Barrett to appear from nowhere to tackle him into touch.

Looking at my notebook, I can't recall a game when so much happened. In the first seven minutes we had Wales pressing constantly, Barrett racing back to foil that kick ahead, and then a three-minute period when Wales were well on top – but with no scrum half.

Rhys Webb left the field then for a head impact assessment, and was replaced by Gareth Davies, who had an excellent game, including scoring a try in the final 10 minutes when the All Black captain, Sam Whitelock, was in the bin.

Halfpenny kicked a penalty after that first seven minutes, but you can't help feeling that a clear-headed Webb might have orchestrated a try.

The first half continued in that vein. Welsh pressure was punctuated by two All Black trips upfield to score Naholo's two tries. Each time he used his power to dismiss challenges from first Steff Evans, and then Leigh Halfpenny.

Would a George North on the left wing have made a difference? Who knows, but Steff minutes of excellent play by Wales.

Soon after, Ioane intercepted Biggar's pass and Charlie Brown was well and truly on his back, pondering what a cruel world it can be.

This week it's South Africa – without Wales' English-based players, as it's not an official international weekend. A 2-2 record would be acceptable, whereas a 1-3 return would cause more anguish.

Following Welsh rugby isn't easy.

One final thought – it strikes me that the All Blacks are over-doing the Haka these days. This year's went on so long I'm surprised there wasn't an interval.

Evans is contributing hugely to Wales' new style.

Wales scored a superb try of their own, straight from a lineup with Owen Williams as first receiver, with Dan Biggar on the run-around feeding Hallam Amos, who made a clean break before passing to the supporting Biggar, who put Scott Williams in.

It was a classic Welsh try, and Halfpenny's conversion attempt would have given Wales a half-time lead, but it stayed at 12-11 to the All Blacks.

The half time stats were amazing. Wales made 43 tackles and New Zealand 95. That disparity grew wider in the first four minutes of the second half, which once again was non-stop Welsh pressure.

My notebook showed (48 minutes) "Welsh handling v v good".

Then, at 55 minutes, it simply said "Exhausting game".

Sadly, the next entry was "Ioane, brilliant offload (or maybe lucky)". Either way, Lennert Brown was under the posts and it was 19-11. A cruel lack of reward for 20
